Yellow Soldiers Endanger Captives' Lives

Battle In Hills May Add Fuel To Bandits' Hate

Brigands Move Their Prisoners Deeper In Mountain Recesses
Foreign Diplomats Demand Chinese Government Secure Releases

Peking.—V. Barube, a Frenchman, who was among the captives held by the Shantung bandits, has been released on parole and has arrived at Tsao Chwang with further demands from the captors for the removal of the troops. It is expected he will return to the bandit headquarters Thursday in accordance with the promise he made on leaving.

Anxiety over the foreign captives held in the Shantung Hills by Chinese bandits was heightened Thursday when word reached Peking from Tsao Chwang of a clash between troops of the Chinese government and members of the outlaw band.

A detachment of bandits is attempting to join the main body at the Paozuku mountain stronghold was said to have been driven back after a sharp fight with the soldiers. This incident it is feared, may add fuel to smoldering vindictiveness of the bandits, who already are described in an unconfirmed report to have killed three Chinese captives over a precipitous cliff.

Further advices from Tsao Chwang confirmed the report that the bandits had moved their captives farther back into the mountain wilderness. Troops had not withdrawn Thursday but remained surrounding the territory occupied by the bandits and communication with the captives was becoming increasingly difficult.

Another dramatic evidence of the general unrest in China was recorded Wednesday on the arrival in Shanghai of the train from Peking. Members of the Chinese government and American had boarded the train, attacked the officials beat Chinese servants who resisted, and seized a quantity of loot including possession of the train for several hours, despite the protests of foreigners. Consular representatives cleared aiding the Chinese officials finally persuaded the gendarmes to leave.

A report reached Shanghai Wednesday that the bandits entrenched back of Tachung were contemplating a sortie to kidnap more foreigners who have been a Tsaochwang negotiating for the release of the captives.

Two trains of captives, one from Tsaochwang were seized by a mine near Tachung. The 500 troops who were guarding the coal were said to be unworthy and likely to go over to the brigands.

The American consuls at Lincheng and Tsaochwang have imposed a censorship on all outgoing telegrams and letters.

BLAINE GOVERNMENT
The bandits are reported to blame the Peking government for temporizing in the promised withdrawal of troops. The Tachung of Shantung province renewed his assurance that the troops would be moved away, but the bandits are quoted as saying they will hold the captives two weeks longer.

Another phase of the situation which is causing worry in official circles is dissatisfaction among the government soldiers, many of whom have not been paid for more than a year and are on short rations.

WORLD COURT NOT DROPPED, HARDING SAYS

President Still Strong For Idea Of International Body

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1923 by The Post Pub. Co.

Washington.—President Harding has cleared up the misunderstandings which have been spreading in the last fortnight concerning his alleged abandonment of the world court proposal.

The president stands four-square on his original project as submitted to congress but has come to the conclusion that nothing will be gained by agitation of the matter on his part until congress reconvenes. He will not make it a primary subject of discussion on his western trip. Mr. Harding has been trying to convey the impression that he is not challenging those who differ with him in the Republican party, that he is not out with a whip on his shoulder to invade the states of those who disbelieve in the world court idea but somehow it has gotten abroad in the land that he is really weakening on the world court suggestion itself and in the end will not be found insisting that it be adopted.

BACKDOWN SUSPECTED
There are men in the Republican party of a betting mood who are willing to wager that the president ultimately will give way and will allow the world court to get buried in a tangle of parliamentary details in the next session of congress. Some of these same individuals were so confident that Mr. Harding would sign the soldier bonus bill when passed by both houses of congress and they are the ones who think Warren Harding would rather compromise and concede a point than carry a controversy to the bitter end.

REASON FOR CAUTION
The president in the last twenty-four hours has interpreted his own position still further and it comes nearer explaining the reason for his caution than anything else that has emanated from the administration on this subject. Mr. Harding pointed out that the big point of his course in the world court controversy has been making it an offense punishable by six months' imprisonment to destroy lotus plants.

The new law provides that "any person who shall willfully cut, root up, sever, injure, destroy, remove or carry away from public property or private waters or from property of another, without permission, or shall willfully sell or expose for sale any American lotus so obtained, shall be punished by imprisonment of not more than six months in jail or by fine."

The conservation commission is instructed to mark places where lotus are found, warning persons against their destruction.

This plant formerly abundant in the south, is said to be disappearing. It is to give an opportunity for the development of the flower that the law was enacted.

His Tongue Landed Him Behind Bars

Albert Belke's troubles started with fishing for rock sturgeon with snag lines, which he knew was contrary to the fish and game laws. When a game warden visited him at his home in the Third ward of New London and placed him under arrest, he did not surmise that the offense would entrap him in another.

Having pleaded guilty in municipal court Thursday morning to the charge of illegal fishing, and having been fined $10 and costs of $9, he was interrogated by the judge as to his other habits.

An affirmative but truthful answer to the question of whether he had been making his moonshine sealed his doom. He thought he was free, but now heard the judge pronounce another sentence of six months in the county jail, which was the very limit that the judge could give him.

Thus Judge Spencer conducted a raid of his own without taking a step from the courthouse.

Certainly the largest moonshine still ever taken in a raid in this section if not in the entire state is included in the "game" that was bagged by the dry squad made up of Thomas W. Martin, and Edward Sullivan, federal prohibition enforcement agents; Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke, Detective Matthew McGinnis and D. P. French, superintendent of the Appleton district of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon league.

RAID FOUR FARMS
The farms of four Buchanan men were raided during the day. One of the men has appeared in court and pleaded guilty to the charge of manufacture of illegal intoxicating liquor. He is John Powers. The other farms raided are those of William Powers, his brother, Elmer Clune and Charles Clune, also brothers. Sentence of John Powers was withheld temporarily by Judge A. M. Spencer until the others have been taken into court.

The array of still, coils, jugs, bottles, mash, sugar and the usual moonshine paraphernalia of the distillery outfit collected by the raiding party made an excellent collection for a museum. They filled a whole wagon load and

Chooses Fine To Jail Term For Making Moonshine At Stroebe Island

G. W. Kaufman of Appleton, whose cottage on Stroebe Island was raided for moonshine last week by state prohibition officers, has enriched Winnebago by $500. He was arraigned in municipal court at Oshkosh Wednesday morning after previous arraignment in justice court at Menasha.

He waived his preliminary examination, was bound over for trial and pleaded guilty to the charge of illicit manufacture of intoxicating liquor. He chose to pay a fine of $500 rather than serve six months in the county jail.

Frosh Baiting At Marquette Banned By Dean
Milwaukee.—Prohibition of hazing in all its forms at Marquette university next year was announced Thursday by the Rev. Simon J. Nicolas, dean of men at the university.

Abolishment of the class rush, parades through downtown streets and through various village and hamlet escapades are included under the drastic orders. The freshman cap is not affected, however, and mild enforcement of the rule which requests first year students to don the blue and gold skull caps will be tolerated.

Just what measures will be taken to enforce the order were not made known but it was pointed out that probation, suspension, dismissal and expulsion are the four grades of censure employed at Marquette in serious cases.

Father Nicolas denied that the ruling was made after the disastrous riot of hazing at Northwestern university and elsewhere were observed. The rule was on the university records before the Mount case came into the limelight, he said.

"Hazing is open to abuses at all times," asserted the dean of men, "and ill-effects."

What is probably the most successful of raids in this county from the viewpoint of confiscated moonshine and stills was conducted Thursday morning and afternoon in the town of Buchanan by federal and local officers.

3,000 Men, Pledged To Eliminate Bad Language March In Parade Sunday

Doctor Loses 60-Mile Race With Reaper

By Associated Press
Racine.—A wild race with death by Dr. Jerome Kucera of Chicago ended in defeat for the physician, when he arrived Wednesday night at a local hospital just after death had claimed Frank Cole, victim of an automobile accident. Dr. Kucera is a cousin of the dead man and upon learning of the latter's plight, drove his car at great speed all the way from Chicago in an attempt to be of some assistance in possibly saving the life of the injured man. The physician made the sixty odd mile trip in less than three hours despite a delay at Zion city, where he was taken into custody for alleged fast driving.

Cole was fatally hurt late Wednesday when the automobile he was driving was struck by an interurban train on the North Shore Electric road. One of his companions, August Eas-mussen, suffered a broken leg and other lesser injuries.

OSHKOSH PREPARES FOR G. A. R. CAMP

By Associated Press
Oshkosh.—Details are being completed by local committees for the first seventh annual encampment of the Wisconsin department of the G. A. R. to be held here June 11, 12, and 13. It is expected the attendance will be so large that hotels will be crowded and many homes will be asked to give lodging to visitors. The local delegation including a band will be over 100. For many of the aged he-roe this may be the last reunion they will attend and there is some sentiment for not trying to hold further state encampments because so many are getting too feeble to stand the trip, consequently the gathering here is expected to be one of the largest in state.

CHICAGO PIGGLY STORES ARE SOLD

Saunders Liquidating Debts By Selling His Properties

By Associated Press
Memphis, Tenn.—Conferees between Clarence Saunders, president of Piggly Wiggly Stores, Inc., and members of the pool which had been associated with him in recent sensational activities of the corporation's stock, continued Thursday interrupted by announcement late Wednesday night that the 97 units of the company in Chicago had been sold to Chicago financiers.

Names of the purchasers were not published by Mr. Saunders who declared in his announcement that the price for the Chicago stores was more than a million dollars, and that the terms were cash payment within seven days. The sale was effected after the adjournment, over-night of the conference of members of the pool.

Negotiations for the sale of further holdings of the company in a number of other cities were understood to be in progress and early announcement of some action along this line was expected today. Proceeds from the Chicago deal and prospective additional sales are to be used in liquidating bank loans which were made during the Piggly Wiggly stock flurry of several weeks ago, which resulted in catching "short sellers" in a jam and the later ruling of the stock on the exchange.

17-YEAR-OLD BOY GETS LIFE TERM

Merrill.—Edwin Seger, boy slayer, wanted removal to the state prison at Waupun Thursday. He was sentenced to 20 years imprisonment Wednesday night. Seger was sentenced after he had been found sane by Dr. Adin Sherman of this city. Seger was found guilty of the murder of John Shilke, night watchman employed at a mill here. He is 17 years old.

BLAINE MEN KILL TIME!

Delay Action On Tax Bill Until Full Strength Is Available

By Associated Press

Madison.—Governor Blaine's tax bill has been temporarily sidetracked by agreement of the senate factions to make way for other legislation at the morning session. Senator Anton Kuckuk, Shawano, opposition leader, announces. Further consideration of the measure is expected Thursday night, he declared. The Sachtjen bill restricting prohibition enforcement is to be acted on and then the Huber unemployment bill will be disposed of, before the governor's bill again comes up for action, Senator Kuckuk said. He declared that the opposition senators could not prevent a minority from continuing to use dilatory tactics to force over consideration of the tax bill and that a result agreement was reached to dispose of other legislation. Senator W. L. Barber, whose absence

LEGISLATIVE PLEADS FOR WINE AND BEER

Madison.—The Burke senate resolution memorializing congress to modify the Volstead act so as to legalize the manufacture and sale of beer was considered in the assembly Thursday, 41 to 41. The resolution will now go to congress being the only one of several of this nature introduced at this session to receive the indorsement of both houses.

As originally introduced in the senate the resolution asked congress for an amendment repealing the eighteenth amendment, but an amendment by Senator Czerwinski, which was adopted, confined the petition to a request for modification of the Volstead act.

has caused delay over the tax bill has advised the senate that he will be present today.

Senator Kuckuk declared that there was no doubt but that those opposed to the governor's tax bill had a substantial majority and would kill the proposal.

WET FORCES DEFEATED

The Sachtjen bill restricting provision of the search and seizure clause of the Severson prohibition enforcement act, was defeated by the senate Thursday 19 to 14. This was designated by the wets in the legislature as their principal measure of the session.

Governor Blaine in a special message to the legislature indorsed this legislation and at the same time criticized the eighteenth amendment to the constitution. Throughout debate in both houses on the Sachtjen bill the name of the governor was used by those supporting the proposal.

The Sachtjen bill came before the senate with the understanding that it would be quickly disposed of. Speeches commenced at once however, and continued for more than an hour. The dry forces made no defense of their stand.

Wets directed their principal fight for adoption of the Beveridge amendment which modified the original Sachtjen bill to the extent that specific penalties against officers operating

Ford Shies At Badger Water Power Survey

By Associated Press
Madison.—A representative of Henry Ford, who says that the Ford Company is interested in developing water power sites in Wisconsin, appeared against the Elber bill which would hold up water power development for six years preceding survey by the state railroad commission. This measure was introduced by the assembly, is before the finance committee for consideration.

R. A. Walter, former state senator from Michigan, and Ford representative asked the committee whether passage of the Elber bill would not stop the wheels of progress in Wisconsin, by putting a stop to a water power development.

He told the committee that the Ford company owns several sites in this state and that Mr. Ford has under consideration extensive water power development, unless held back.

GILLISPIE LICENSE IS ANNULLED BY COMMON COUNCIL

Request For Public Nurse Is Refused—Garbage Matter Discussed

The license of Gordon Gillispie to operate a soft drink parlor at 1110 Second-st. was annulled by the common council Wednesday evening because Gillispie was convicted of violating the state prohibition laws. The saloonkeeper is now serving 40 days in the county workhouse.

A request of a number of civic organizations for the engaging of a city public health nurse was refused by the aldermen upon the recommendation of the finance committee, to which the matter had been referred at the previous meeting. The reason given is that the city finances this year do not permit employment of a nurse.

The First National bank of Appleton was given the business for the ensuing year in handling the city's deposits. The rate of interest on deposits is 3 per cent. Local banks have an arrangement whereby the deposits are divided among them.

REPAIR HOME

Upon recommendation of the committee on poor, repairs to the roof, interior and boiler of the city home were ordered. The recommendation of the committee on streets and bridges to purchase tar for street work and to advertise for bids or contracts for the same was approved.

Alderman R. F. McGilgan to paint the iron work on bridges and to rebuild the woodwork on South River-st. was referred to the street and bridge committee. A petition was received for the opening up of Munroe-st. from Seymour-st. to Calumet-st. A moving license was granted for the moving of a car from the city street to the property of the city.

An amendment to section 7, ordinance No. 183, changing the height of billboards was offered and ordered published.

Aldermen J. A. Wood, J. F. Lappen and A. W. Laabs were appointed as a committee to consult with the city engineer and the city attorney on the matter of garbage disposal. A letter was received from the city council of Menasha, asking for such action. Alderman Lappen said that there has been much complaint in Appleton relative to the garbage removal and that a more effective means must be found to keep the city free from garbage. A large incinerator, owned and operated jointly by Appleton and the city of Kaukauna, was suggested as an economy measure.

AUDIT FREIGHT BILLS

A method whereby the city will save money on overcharges on freight bills was adopted by the city council. The city will employ a firm in Milwaukee to do the job of investigating the city's freight accounts and allowing the firm 50 per cent of all they save. Fred R. Morris of the water department told the council that this system had located for the department $130 in overcharges.

Two sewer contracts were awarded by the common council Wednesday. Julius Wark was given the job of digging the sewer trench on Springfield-st. from State-st. to Richmond-st. R. J. Wilson company was low bidder for sewers on the following streets: Pierce-ave, from Second-st. to Spencer-st.; Summer-st, from Harrison-st. to Richmond-st.; Fair-st, from Commercial-st. to Springfield-st.; Lafayette-st, from Richmond-st. to Bennett-st.

A communication from Ford H. McGregory, secretary of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities, informed the council that the annual convention will take place at Stevens Point from June 12 to 14 and asked for suggestions for the program.

An application for a permit to repair his frame barn damaged in a fire recently was made personally by Dr. William Madison, veterinarian. Engineer O. F. Wegscheider explained that he had no authority to issue a permit for the repair of a wooden structure within the fire limits if the damage is more than 25 per cent of the whole building. He said a board of approval should be appointed to determine the loss.

CONVENTION MATTER UP

The question of whether the police and fire chiefs should be permitted to attend the national conventions with expenses paid was referred to the committee of the whole. Alderman J. A. Wood advised against sending any delegates this year on account of its being a "dreadnought" year. Alderman L. G. Hansen maintained that it will be a benefit to the various departments if the heads are permitted to attend their conventions.

A complaint was heard from Miss Elizabeth Walsh against the city's allowing the G. R. & S. Motor Car company to maintain a frame building which it moved to the rear of its new structure. It was stated that the building was to be allowed there only temporarily. The complaint said that the recent fire at the Dr. William Madison stables had convinced her all the more of the fire hazards afforded by the G. R. & S. building. The building is now rented by another firm.

George Bernard Shaw and John Galsworthy are also well represented, as are Ibsen and Sheridan. Others are Henry Arthur Jones, Lord Lytton, Lord Dunsany, Charles R. Kennedy, and Eugene O'Neill. Several sets of Shakespeare are at the library.

WATER PLANT TO BUY CHEMICALS

Commission Will Ask Bids On Year's Supply—Will Make Repairs

The manager of the water department was ordered by the Appleton water commission Wednesday to advertise for bids on furnishing the department with a year's supply of sulphate of alumina which is to be used for coagulation in the filter system. A quantity of 60,000 to 100,000 pounds is used annually.

Schlafers Hardware company was given the job of making necessary repairs to the water troughs at the pumping station. Bills and payroll accounts in the sum of $2,635.34 were allowed. The report of the chemist and plant superintendent was received and copies of it ordered for perusal by the common council.

CAR BALKS

Stepping on the clutch pedal instead of the reverse caused the automobile of Harold Schumann, Route 4, Menasha, which was parked in front of Schlafers Hardware company store on College-ave Tuesday evening, to jump forward onto the sidewalk. In so doing the car damaged the bicycle of Paul Schubert, Junction hotel, bending the frame and bars and breaking a pedal.

COUNCIL RECEIVES SIX APPLICATIONS FOR CITY ENGINEER

Local Men And Lawrence Graduate Asking To Succeed Weissgerber

Six applications for the office of city engineer, which will become vacant through the resignation of O. F. Weissgerber effective June 15, were laid before the city council at its meeting Wednesday evening. Nearly all of them are local men, some of them living in Appleton or the county, others having had training at Lawrence college.

At the same time the council enlarged the engineering department by appointing G. E. Peotter deputy building inspector to assist the city engineer in the work which the zoning ordinance assigns to him.

The applications for engineer read were those of Professor F. W. Tresize head of the engineering department of Lawrence college; L. M. Schindler, Appleton consulting and drainage engineer; A. A. Schmidt of Chicago, formerly of Appleton; Henry Oik, city engineer of Antigo, who studied at Lawrence college; F. M. Charlesworth, Jr., city engineer of Kaukauna; A. H. Gladden, 1922 Fourth-st.

ACT AT ONCE
Because Mr. Weissgerber had announced that his resignation would take effect on June 15, the council acted on the request of Alderman A. W. Laabs to examine the qualifications of the applicants at once and arrange for personal interviews with the candidates. Instead of referring the applications to a committee, the council turned over the matter to the committee of the whole, into which that body is now resolved subject to call by the chairman. Meetings may be held this week at which candidates will be asked to appear.

It was learned that Mr. Schmidt is 36 years of age and that he lived in Appleton 22 years. He has had varied experience in engineering work since 1908. Much of his work has been that of a valuation engineer for railroads. He is now with the Chicago Junction Railway company.

L. M. Schindler is a consulting engineer in Appleton, with residence at 717 Clark-st. Although having had considerable experience in various branches of engineering he has specialized as drainage engineer. He is at present the drainage engineer of the Outagamie drainage board which has several large projects under consideration.

IS EXPERIENCED
A. H. Gladden, 1922 Fourth-st., is said to have had six years experience in practical engineering work, such as structural engineering, road and street construction, sewerage, sewage disposal.

The age of Mr. Tresize of Lawrence college is given as 29 years. He is an Appleton property owner, with residence at 630 Mead-st. He has had seven years experience in civil engineering. Much of his work was with private firms in the state and elsewhere. He was also in the corps of engineers in the United States army. He is now head of the engineering department of Lawrence college.

Frank M. Charlesworth, Jr., is also well known here. He is a city engineer of Kaukauna and county surveyor of Outagamie-co. He studied at Lawrence college and in the engineering school of the University of Wisconsin. For a time he was with the O'Keefe and Orshon engineering firm of Appleton. He was also formerly assistant city engineer of Green Bay. He was in the service of the United States war department in Ypsilanti park and was formerly in the engineering department of the Wisconsin highway commission.

NOW AT ANTIGO
Another former Lawrence student is Henry Oik of Antigo, who is 38 years old and has had 16 years of experience in engineering and contracting, specifically in railroads, sewerage, sewage disposal, waterworks, roads and bridges. He built the sewerage system in Kimberly. He is city engineer of Antigo.

The appointment of a deputy building inspector was made with the understanding that he should assist in the engineering department. G. E. Peotter was selected by a vote of 10 to 2 after the city plan commission had submitted the names of Phillip Earl and H. C. Jens. The latter man received two votes. Peotter is a young man who is training in engineering.

While rejecting the recommendation of the plan commission in this particular, the council adopted the commission's recommendation to include lots 1 to 10, of block 4, Clark's addition, in the commercial light manufacturing zone. This was to comply with one of the conditions of the So. Line's transfer of block 22 to the city for junior high school purposes.

FORCED INTO DITCH BY RECKLESS DRIVER
Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hamel, 602 Maple-st., had a thrilling experience Sunday. While on their way home from Fond du Lac they turned out for an automobile coming towards them and just as they did so another automobile shot between the two cars, throwing the one in which Mr. and Mrs. Hamel were riding into the ditch. The occupants escaped injury but their automobile was damaged. The driver who caused the accident escaped without his license number having been ascertained.

I SPIED TODAY

DANGEROUS FLAG POLE
For sometime my attention has been drawn to a tottering flag pole on the top of the Appleton Instant Heat building south of the draw bridge. When the wind blows this pole rocks back and forth and if it is not removed or fastened securely someone is going to get a terrible blow. It may even be the cause of someone's death.

FLAGS SURPRISE HER
I have spent many years in the south and just recently returned for a visit. Noticing a flag hoisted at the school I asked what holiday was being celebrated and was told that the flag was up every school day. Now the south is not that patriotic and I am glad to be a northerner.

SPILED MILK
Wednesday morning the carelessness of someone at Potts and Woods creamery caused the spilling of several cans of milk. The spilling was not done in the usual way but through an open faucet. I was passing the creamery at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning when I noticed the milk coming from the faucet. One of the employees rushed out of the building and closed the faucet but not until considerable milk had been lost.

GET TASTE FIRST
Wednesday noon I was in a bakery shop where they keep candy and saw two small boys having the time of their life. They would pick up a piece of candy, lick it and then put it back on the plate. Evidently all they could afford was "just a taste."

GLANDS MADE ACTIVE BY A NEW DISCOVERY
Chemists Find a Substance Which Renews Vigor by Effort on Nerves and Secretions

A discovery made recently by medical chemists will be hailed with delight by millions. It is a substance which quickly renews youthful vigor by increasing the activity of the nerves and glands on which vital force depends. Its effect is so prompt that a few grains of it produce a visible improvement. Thousands who have tried it tell of delightful results in 24 to 48 hours, many reporting a full restoration of physical powers within a week.

The discovery has what scientists call a "selective" effect, concentrated directly on important nerve centers, glands and blood vessels. Thus the circulation improves, a new sense of warmth is felt and the increased glandular activity soon brings a restoration of youthful power and animation, manifested in sparkling eyes, buoyant step and an eagerness and increased capacity for the duties of life. The effects are virtually the same in both old and young. Men past 60 say the discovery has given them the vigor of the prime of life.

In the research department of the Mellon Laboratories, the substance has been made available for home treatment by combining it, in tablet form, with other invigorating ingredients. The result, known as korex compound, is a double-strength product, containing no harmful drugs, which users pronounce the most powerful and delightful revitalizer known. In fact, its success has been so great that the distributors invite any person needing it to take a double-strength treatment with the understanding that it costs nothing if it fails.

If you wish to try this amazing invigorator, write confidentially to the Mellon Laboratories, 388 Massachusetts Bldg., Kansas City, Mo., and the treatment will be mailed to you in a plain, sealed package. You may enclose $2, or simply send your name, without money, and pay $2 and postage on delivery. In either case, if you report "no results" after one week, the laboratories will refund your money. These laboratories are thoroughly reliable, so nobody need hesitate to accept their guaranteed offer.

HOUSE TAX EXEMPTION
Three years ago the state of New York passed what was known as the housing tax exemption law. This law exempted houses thereafter erected from taxation for a term of years. When the law was contested the lower court held it invalid. The validity of the law was upheld by the next higher court, and the court of appeals has now finally settled the matter by holding the act constitutional.
The decision is of interest to the country at large because of the experiment and its effects. The law was enacted with the idea of holding out special inducements to stimulate home building. There was at that time a great scarcity of housing facilities in New York, as in all other parts of the United States. The law appeared to have a very great effect along the lines desired, for house construction soon after was under way on a large scale and for the next two years New York built homes at a rate that was almost unparalleled.
It would obviously be an injustice to those who built to secure the benefits of this law to break an implied contract they had entered into with the state in good faith. Of course, the act had to stand the constitutional test, but it was carefully drawn and the best legal authority was of the opinion that it was entirely valid. This view is confirmed, and now that the legality of the procedure is settled it offers suggestions to other states to consider similar proposals. Both the justice and desirability of exempting improvements of this character from taxation are debatable, but there is much that is logical and sound to be said in favor of the course adopted by New York.

LOST TRAILS
What is said to be the finest pavement in the world—a Roman road built centuries ago—is discovered four feet under the earth's surface at Colchester, England. This superb highway was put together by the tessellated or checkerboard system, like the mosaic patterns of tiles inlaid in many colors as flooring for modern bathrooms, building entrances, etc. The design is worked out in seven colors. The tiles in places are arranged to form dragons, bulls, flowers and dolphins. It starts you thinking about the glories of lost civilizations.
If you were to visit Peru and explore what remains of the wonderful Inca civilization destroyed by Spanish conquerors, the Inca roads would probably impress you most—particularly if you drive a car. One of these roads was nearly 2,000 miles long. Twenty feet wide, it stretches over the mountains, practically as good today as when it was built centuries ago. First, the Inca roadmakers laid down huge slabs of stone. They covered these with a thick coating of bituminous cement. Time has hardened this cement into solid rock. Describing this road, Charles J. Fieger says in his book, "Lost Civilization": "I recall the great stone road of the vanquished people, perfectly level or gently sloping, leagues of living rock being cut for its passage; ravines filled with solid masonry, precipices carved. Nor was the road left a mere mechanical triumph. On either side there were embankments, riprapped with stone, and trees and flowers were planted."

The good roads movement started when barbarians began clearing trails through the dense jungles. Civilization has always been spurred or held back to great extent by highway conditions. And this is true now more than ever before, because congestion of population requires adequate arteries of traffic. Our good roads movement is making rapid strides. It is really amazing when you compare it with the dirt pavements of only 20 years ago. Still there is nothing unusual about our roads. When our civilization lies tor may not think much of us as they unearth some of the bum pavements we have laid.

However, we make no pretensions as a nation to build monuments of permanence. Most of the things we have created are superficial and unenduring. We are building what we call permanent highways, but of course they are not permanent in the true sense. Nevertheless, they serve our purposes and are quite up to the national standard, which in the main is to take the most we can from today at the least sacrifice and least cost, and let the morrow take care of itself.

PROSPECT OF MEXICAN AGREEMENT
The periodical announcement that America and Mexico are near agreement has just come from Washington. Most of the misunderstandings between the two governments have, it is said, been thrashed out, and the prospects for harmonious accord are better than at any time since the revolution which deposed Porfirio Diaz.
Considering the fact that Mexico has been a republic for more than half a century, we have reason to infer that progress there should be greater than it has been. The truth is that Mexico is just at the beginning of governmental and commercial development. Her vast natural wealth has been the nation's worst misfortune. For years the state and the people have been despoiled by citizens and strangers, who have made fortunes directly or indirectly at the expense of the people.
Were there friendlier relationship between the people of Mexico and the people of the United States advancement would be more certain and rapid. Nothing would please America better than for Mexico to adopt American republican ideals. We should like to see Mexicans prosperous and happy.

BANK REGULATION VERSUS DEPOSIT GUARANTEE
The bank depositors' guaranty law of Oklahoma has been repealed, after being in operation fifteen years. During this time the deposit-guaranty system piled up a debt of approximately $10,000,000 against the state.
In abandoning the plan of guaranteeing depositors against loss, which has been both unsuccessful and expensive, Oklahoma resorts to more strict regulation of banks, which is of course the better plan. It would be well if other states would carry out regulation more thoroughly.
It is wiser and less expensive to prevent bank failures than to pay depositors for their losses. The guaranty plan cannot possibly work, as it does not make financial institutions safe; on the contrary, it makes these concerns more reckless and generally insecure.
When banks are well managed and carefully supervised they are less likely to fail. Losses are thus kept at a minimum. Recent accounts of losses in a few principal cities tend to prove that losses to depositors and stockholders would have been small and few had state supervision been adequate.
Experience with the deposit-guaranty law has been costly to Oklahoma, but it has been valuable. It should be helpful to other commonwealths. It was but another of those rash experiments so popular with the agitators nowadays, to have the state responsible for private fortunes and misfortunes, and to lay all personal troubles at the door of government.

TODAY'S POEM
By Berton Braley
A REGULAR GIRL
Say, what do you mean by a Regular Girl?
Well, that's a bit puzzling to state.
Her hair has, perhaps, an irregular curl,
Or maybe it's perfectly straight;
And maybe she's pretty and maybe she's not
And maybe she's stately or short.
But somehow or other you always can spot
A girl who's the regular sort.
There's always a regular feminine charm
To all of her regular ways,
There's purity, too, which no evil can harm,
There's honor and truth in her gaze,
But there's an irregular whimsical twist
To some of her thoughts and her acts,
Which makes her exceedingly hard to resist,
For mystery always attracts.
She's eager and joyous and vivid and smart,
She's healthy and wholesome and sweet,
Her regular smile gives each masculine heart
A slightly irregular beat;
A Regular Gal you can bank on for life
With faith no hard luck can dispel;
And—a Regular Girl makes a Regular Wife
And a Regular Mother as well.

Health Talks
BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author
Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

PTOSIS WITHOUT ANY SLUMP
A downward sagging or displacement of stomach or intestine is a common cause of stasis, or constipation, and of the various symptoms of autointoxication, although the posture of the individual may appear good and there is no apparent abdominal relaxation. Indeed, some of the most misleading cases, in which the symptoms strongly suggest such lesions as ulcer or cancer, have been found to be nothing else than ptosis, or downward displacement of the stomach, demonstrable only by X-ray pictures.
Sometimes the abdomen is prominent, through it does not slump. But the digestive disturbance grows slowly a little worse despite treatment with "digestive tablets," and the patient begins to lose weight and strength, and this loss of strength lowers nutrition and tends to still further increase the sag—one of those self-sustaining vicious circles. Indigestion, which is quickly relieved by reclining, especially lying with the hips a foot or so higher than the shoulders, suggests ptosis as a cause. In such cases attacks of distress or pain are sometimes prevented by lying in that position for a time after eating.
When considerable underweight is a symptom, it is essential that the patient shall be nourished to the limit, given the rest cure and forced feeding, in order to take up the slack. The same is true in a case of floating kidney. A woman with a loose kidney is usually long and lean. Nervous? Yes, of course. Leanness is due to nervousness. One of the few serious objections to radical fasting or limitation of the diet, according to Dr. Saggioli, who discussed the subject in the Gazzetta degli Ospedali e delle Cliniche, is the possibility of favoring sags or ptoses in individuals predisposed to the condition. But heaven only knows which individuals are likely to slump on a fast. We are heavy in our faith in fasting, for other folks, and we make no bones about urging the merits of the Bread and Milk club upon overtly bilious, auto-intoxicated individuals here where food is so attractive—and far be it from us to produce any slump in the human race.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
He Beats The Kine To It
When young wife received your letter, in which you advised her to eat bran and stand for her head, I made up my mind that you were not quite sane. But presently she began to look so much better, and feel so much better, that I myself decided to rob the loving kine of their birthright, and the bran treatment has worked wonders for me. It is great! It makes a fellow feel like standing on his head or anything! Strange how we look upon a novel idea, isn't it?—T. M.
Answer—It is a passing strange. If we could put up bran in capsules or in the form of an elixer, or if you had to hire some one to rub it in or inject it hypodermically, everybody'd take it. Even the big mills might see their way to turn out undernourished flour for the mollycoddle human race.
Fifteen And Getting a Goitre
I am 15 and am starting to get a large neck. What can I do to prevent this?—Miss L. A.
Answer—At about your age the thyroid gland naturally enlarges somewhat, particularly at the periods. You must endeavor to avoid stasis, keep the bowel regulated by a diet which includes a large bulk of fresh fruit, the coarse vegetables (cabbage raw, cooked turnips, beets, carrots, etc.) Eat sea food, water cresses. Perhaps your doctor should prescribe some form of iodine containing medicine. Take no chances on external applications unless prescribed by the doctor, for some of the things suggested by incompetent advisers are dangerous.
The Best Remedy
What do you consider the best remedy to stop a sixteen-year-old boy from smoking?—Mrs. C. E. D.
Answer—While it is out of him. That, I believe, is the best remedy for any minor who smokes.
Electric Heat
Is it hygienic to use a small electric heater to heat a small room? Is it true that electric heaters give off fumes the same as gas heaters?—S. W. G.
Answer—It is hygienic; it gives off no fumes. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

LOOKING BACKWARD
TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Thursday, May 19, 1898
I. N. Stewart, editorial writer of the Milwaukee Journal, visited Appleton friends.
A new flagpole 52 feet long was erected on No. 2 engine house.

Says Kipling Is Remote In Time And Place
(Philip Guedalla, in Vanity Fair.)
There is, there is always a certain remoteness about Rudyard Kipling. His imagination played perpetually round the ends of the earth. His earliest works were imported in blue-gray paper covers from Allahabad. Even his name came from Staffordshire. He specialized in the outer edges of Mercator's projection, in Lunenburg and Mandalay and those miraculous regions of Suez where Queen Victoria's writ ran a trifle uncertainly. He even went so far afield (it was an incredible achievement in the heyday of Mrs. Humphrey Ward) as to have an American public. In a generation which regarded stories of Scottish life as travelers' tales from the far north he extended the public imagination to broad and distant horizons and taking the whole degrees of latitude in his stride, he jerked a familiar thumb over his shoulder in the direction of the equator, a paw or so and all the uncomfortable wonders of the world which lie outside the temperate zone. It became his mission to convince his fellow subjects that the British empire was an ideal and not merely an accident and that the oddly dressed equestrians with dark faces who rode in the cavalcade of Queen Victoria's second jubilee possessed a significance beyond that normally attributed to them by the proprietors of circuses. It was a high theme, which took him up and down the map.
But his remoteness in place was more than equaled by his remoteness as one looks at him now, in point of time. The dinosaurs, one feels, can give points in modernity to Mr. Kipling. After all it is on speaking terms with H. G. Wells. But the author of Soldiers Three seems to belong to an age of almost fabulous antiquity. His flag, his gear, his soldiers are the vague figures of a mythology that is rapidly fading into folklore. His political message has a dim interest for research students. And patient excavation will, no doubt, confirm many of the statements that are to be found in his text.

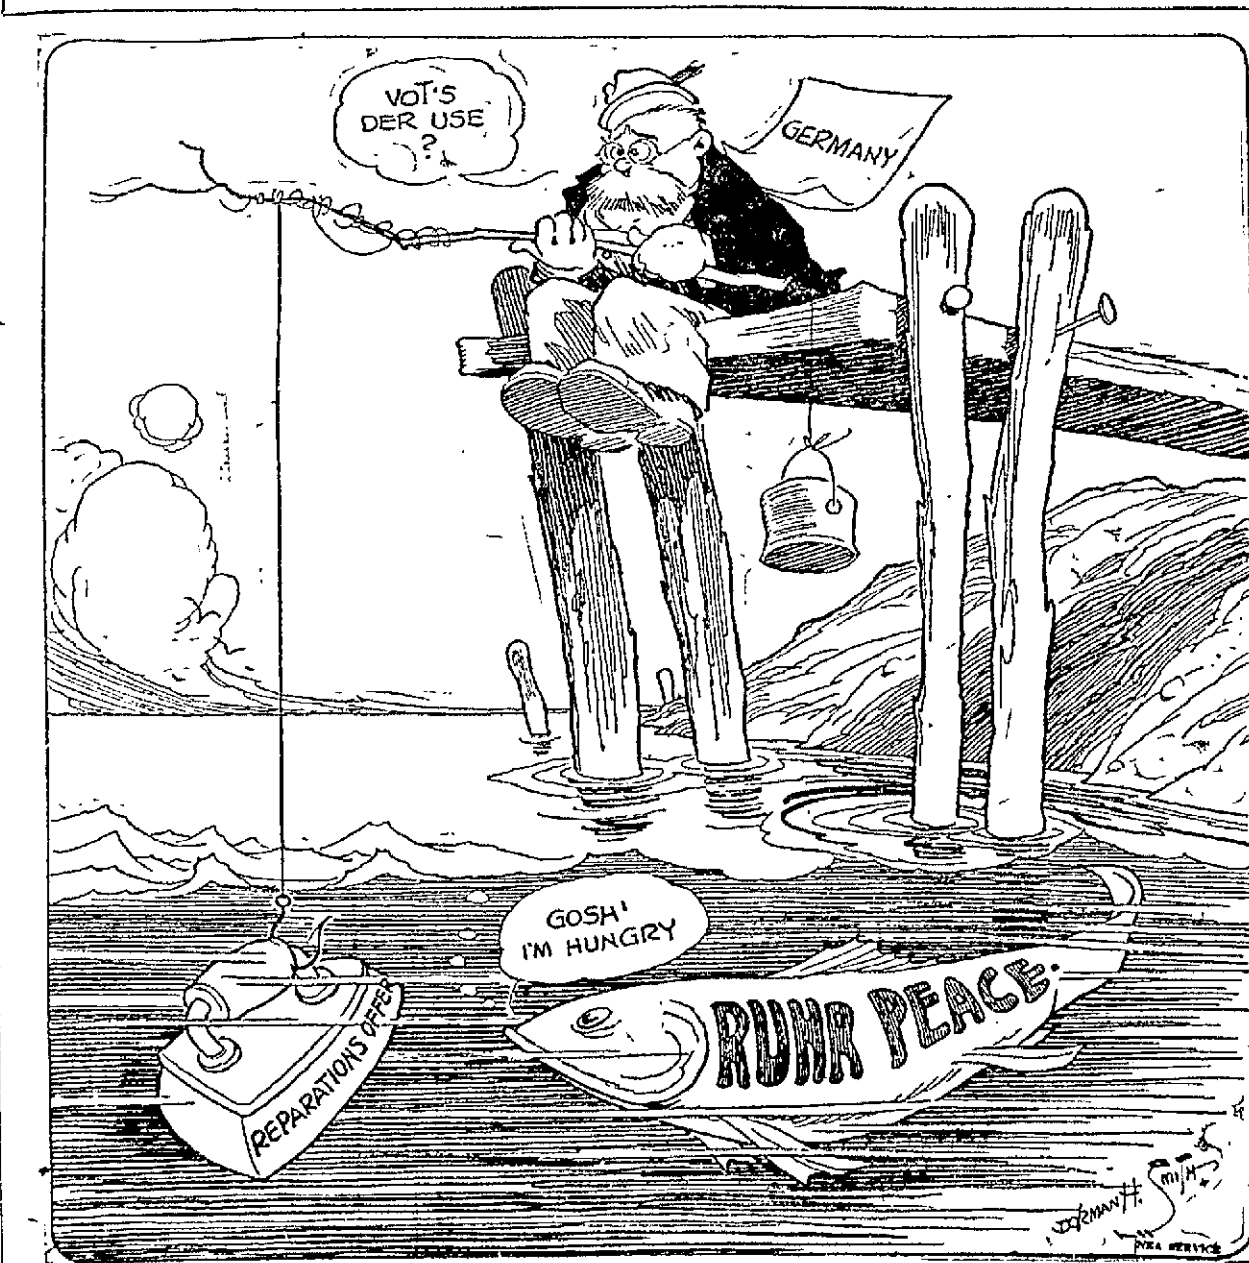

The Question Box
(Any reader can get the answer to any question by writing The Appleton Post-Crescent Information Bureau, Frederick J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. This offer applies strictly to information. The Bureau cannot give advice on legal, medical and financial matters. It does not attempt to settle domestic troubles, nor to undertake exhaustive research on any subject. Q. Is there any difference between "Junior" and "II" as used after names? P. A. T.
A. Junior is used only by a son who bears exactly the same name as his father. The designation II indicates that the person after whose name it appears is the second to bear the name. For example, the first may have been his grandfather.
Q. Does a mother snake swallow her young if attacked? C. E.
A. The Bureau of Biological Survey reports that it is a matter of popular belief that, in time of danger, the mother snake will swallow her young and allow them to emerge from her mouth after the danger is past. Several reliable witnesses have asserted that they have observed snakes to swallow young, and competent authorities have held that it would be possible for the young to live in the throat for a short period. So far as known, however, no one has gone on record with observations that the young have emerged again from the mother's mouth after they were swallowed.
Q. Who was the wealthiest President of the United States? K. C. N.
A. George Washington is said to have been the richest, his possessions having exceeded $1,000,000 in value.
Q. Is the word thoroughbred applied to all pure bred animals? U. S.
A. This name is loosely given to any animal that is of pure blood and recorded pedigree, or is entitled to be recorded in a stud-book, herd-book, or flock-register, and whose ancestry is known and recorded for five genera-

THE WRONG BAIT

It was plain hard work that brought these Clothes to Appleton
The secret of success is work—and that we worked to make this display possible is no secret.
First, we hustled like beavers to get the right goods for you.
Then we worked pencil, ink, calculating machine and resources to test, beat and conquer competitive prices.
Yes—we're workers—but every hour we spend makes your spending iron clad and safe.
See us—there is not a lazy bone in this institution—and that applies not only to the men but to the merchandise and prices as well!

He made his first hit with "The Time Machine," 1895, one of a number of popular romance fantasies.

College Gives Fishing Course

(Robert H. Moulton, in The Outlook.)
The business of fishing—and this means commercial fishing and not the sport of angling—is one of the oldest in the world and as new conductive methods, a rather fixed industry. In other words, the fisherman goes out in his boat, drops his seine overboard, hauls it in, takes from it what he can use and that is all there is to it. What, therefore, could a fisherman learn from a college whose purpose is to teach him how to fish?
This question has been answered by the establishment of the college of fisheries of the University of Washington and the only institution of its kind on the western continent. Established three years ago, it has already proved an unqualified success. It has shown that, while the whims of the sea and the vagaries of the always wandering schools of fish largely control the prosperity or the lack of it of the commercial fisherman, nevertheless the fisheries may be regulated, the habits of the fish sought studied and much of the uncertainty of the harvest of the sea converted into a reasonable sureness of output every year.
The principal justification for the establishment of the college of fisheries was the fact that the commercial fisheries of the North American continent are the most important in the world. In the United States, including Alaska, their production amounts to almost 3,000,000,000 pounds annually, valued, as they leave the fishermen's hands, approximately at $100,000,000. The total value of the world's fisheries is computed at $560,000,000, and if the value of the fisheries of the United States, Canada and Newfoundland were combined, they would represent almost one-third of the total.
In the fisheries of the United States are utilized 8,750 vessels of 240,000 net tons, and 191,000 men, women and children are employed.
Much of our fishery resources is, however, either totally neglected or little utilized, simply because of the lack of trained men. The college of fisheries supplies these men and teaches them the best methods, not only of operating the industry, but of preserving and conserving the natural product which forms the basis of that industry.
Special instruction is given all who are considering engaging in the canning or packing of fish or any other branch of the fisheries industry, but who lack the special knowledge of the methods employed, which is requisite to success in this day of specialization in business. The four-year curriculum of the college leads to the degree of bachelor of science in fisheries.

Club Dinner To Be Held On May 22

Mrs. Roy Marston Is In Charge Of Banquet—Mrs. Quinlan To Sing

Members of the membership committee of Appleton Womans club under the direction of Mrs. Roy Marston have charge of the sale of tickets for the annual banquet and meeting of the club which will take place at Hotel Appleton on Tuesday, May 22. All tickets must be purchased before Monday in order that the committee in charge may know how many people desire dinner. Tickets will be available at the clubrooms.

Mrs. J. T. Quinlan will give a musical program at the banquet. Short, "snappy" reports of the departments and committees will be given followed by an original playlet. A stunt about which there is much secrecy will finish the program.

In order to facilitate the collection of dues for next year, each member is asked to turn in the renewal of her membership either when she buys her ticket or on the night of the banquet.

Seats Are Still Available For Pair Of Sixes

Although there has been a large sale for the annual senior play of Appleton high school, "A Pair of Sixes," there are still good seats available and it is expected that when the cast appears at Appleton theatre on Saturday evening, it will be before a packed house. The play itself is considered one of the funniest in recent years and is especially recommended to those who know anything about the card game "poker."

The cast includes the best acting material in this class. The character parts, with the leading roles for popularity and the entire production is guaranteed to provoke one laugh after another.

JUST WRAP IT AROUND

For lack of a better name the "wrap-around" may do for one of the most important modern modes.

Dresses that follow this outline are made with skirts that wrap around themselves forming side drapes, aprons, long panels or simply a two-layered skirt whose top panel is left to blow open as it pleases.

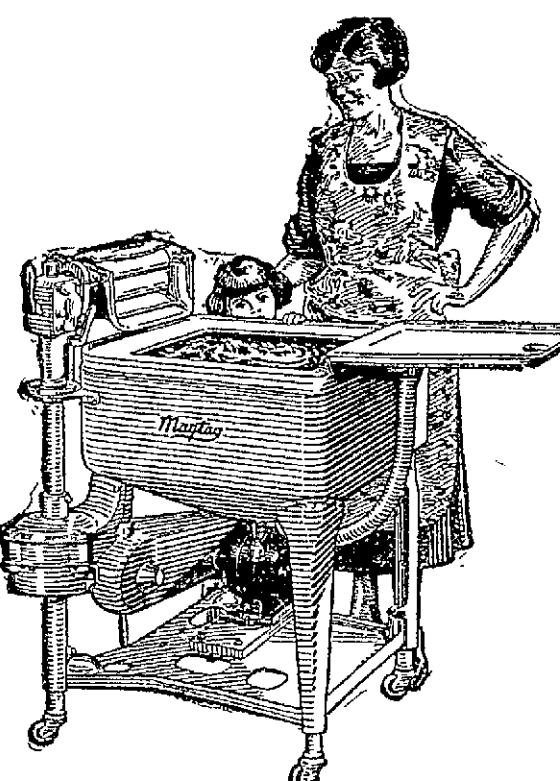

Simple bodices are the rule with the wrap-around silhouette, often with a V-shaped neckline. Sleeves are non-existent, long and tight or bell shaped—but wrist long instead of three-quarter length.

READY FOR TROUBLE AT Y. M. C. A. "WEDDING"

Fear that the "Bride's" father may see fit to interrupt the wedding ceremony of Mayor Harold Finger at the Y. M. C. A. Friday night was expressed Wednesday by members of the Reliable party who are in charge of the affair. He is known to be bitterly opposed to the holding of a public wedding, having expressed his wish that the ceremony be performed at the old homestead on his farm near Stephentown.

The mayor still refuses to disclose the name of the bride-to-be. He wishes to keep the matter as quiet as possible in order to avoid any possibility of a final rupture with the parents of the young lady. An efficient corps of ushers has been selected and will have charge of handling the guests and will also be prepared to prevent any interruption of the ceremony.

Alkali in Shampoos Bad For Washing Hair

Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali, which is bad for the hair, as it dries the scalp and makes the hair brittle.

The best thing to use is Mulstified coconut oil shampoo, for this is pure and entirely greaseless. It is inexpensive and beats anything else all to pieces. You can get this at any drug store, and a few ounces will last the whole family for months.

Two or three teaspoonsful of Mulstified is all that is required. Simply moisten hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, cleanses thoroughly, and rinses out easily. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and is soft, fresh looking, bright, fluffy, wavy and easy to manage. Besides, it loosens and takes out every particle of dust, dirt and dandruff. Be sure and ask for "Mulstified" coconut oil shampoo.

FRECKLES

Now Is the Time to Get Rid of These Ugly Spots

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles as Othine—double strength—is guaranteed to remove these homely spots. Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and apply a little of it night and morning and you should soon see that even the worst freckles have begun to disappear, while the lighter ones have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful clear complexion.

Be sure to ask for the double strength Othine as this is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles.

BULOVA WATCHES

Is Your Watch a Time Piece or Only an Ornament?

Of course you want a beautiful watch. You have the right to expect that. But you do not want a watch for beauty alone. If it fails to perform the service for which you intended it—to tell the time correctly—then its beauty vanishes with its continued impracticability.

BULOVA watches are beautiful watches. You may choose them for their design, alone, resting assured that they will always tell the time on time.

1,000 BABY CHICKS IN MAILS FOR ONE FARMER

Kaukauna—To have 1,000 baby chicks in a postoffice at one time is quite unusual but the Kaukauna post office has one better. One thousand of the little peepers were shipped in 10 boxes of 100 chicks each in the local office Tuesday and were consigned to one man. He is Martin Art and lives on the rural route on the south side. So far as could be determined, the babies were all in good shape and did not hesitate to make known to the world that they were alive.

Womans Club Cuts Huge Cake On 25th Birthday

Sixty Persons Attend Banquet
And Program To Celebrate Anniversary

Kaukauna—Cakes were laid for 60 persons at the banquet celebrating the twenty-fifth anniversary of Kaukauna's Women's club at 6:30 Tuesday evening in Epworth home. The rooms were elaborately decorated in pink and white. A feature of the program was a series of short talks by past presidents of the club. As each former president made her speech she cut a piece from a huge birthday cake which stood in the center of the table.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dayton, first president of the club, was detained at her home in this city. Mrs. H. B. Tanner and Mrs. J. L. Toner no longer live in the city and were not present. The following past presidents, however, were present and all gave talks: Mrs. Althea Carney, Mrs. J. A. Strathearn, Mrs. H. E. Thompson, Mrs. Edward Zekind and Mrs. H. S. Cooke.

An interesting and humorous address was given by R. Radsch. His talk was entitled "As Others See Us."

W. Hagman, principal of Outagamie County Training school, gave the address of greeting, "Our Future Presidents" was the name of a talk by Mrs. F. W. Grosz. Vocal selections were by Miss Barbara Kamps of Appleton. She was accompanied by Miss Rose Ryan. Several musical selections also were rendered by Mrs. E. Farwell. Mrs. Cooke was toastmaster.

Kaukauna Women's club was organized in 1898 with about 10 members. Membership was limited to 25 persons for several years but later was increased. There are now 35 members in the club. The women are desirous of keeping the membership small so that meetings may conveniently be held at the various homes. During the first years of the organization little was attempted beyond weekly studies of interesting subjects. One of the first things accomplished in that line was a thorough study of Wisconsin.

Recently, however, the club went into civic work. The annual sale of Christmas anti-tuberculosis seals is conducted by the women. An annual gift has been made for some years to the Riverside sanatorium and to the orphanage at Dausman. A city wide dental clinic is being held now and will continue indefinitely. Women of the club were instrumental in organizing the free public library in 1901.

These and numerous other facts were brought out in the talks by the past presidents. Following are the names of all the former leaders and their years of leadership: 1898-1899: Mrs. C. A. Walker, 1899-1900: Mrs. H. B. Tanner, 1900-1901: Mrs. J. A. Strathearn, 1901-1902: Mrs. H. E. Thompson, 1902-1903: Mrs. H. E. Thompson, 1903-1904: Mrs. J. L. Toner, 1904-1905: Mrs. J. A. # TRAILER MAY CARRY SAME LOAD AS TRUCK

By Associated Press
Madison—The statute limiting the loads of motor trucks, trailers and wagons to 24,000 pounds does not prevent a trailer from carrying 24,000 pounds and the hauling truck from carrying an additional 24,000 pounds providing in each case the weight is distributed as the law provides. F. E. Bump, assistant attorney general, advised the highway commission.

He held that this statute was designed to protect Wisconsin roads and its object would be accomplished by apportioning the loads.

WORLD-CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR TO CONVENE IN DES MOINES

By Associated Press
Des Moines—Between 15,000 and 20,000 young people from all over the world will be in Des Moines July 4 to 8 to attend the twenty-ninth International Christian Endeavor convention. They will listen to speakers from all countries of the world, according to the announcement of plans by general secretary E. P. Gates, of Boston. Among the speakers who have already been announced are: Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, general secretary of the New Era Movement of the Presbyterian church; Dr. Lionel B. Fletcher, of Australia and England; Hugh S. Merrill, International Sunday School of Religious Education; John Kelley, general secretary of the Scottish Sunday School association, and president of the European Christian Endeavor Union.

TOWN CAUCUSES CAN'T VACATE CHAIRMANSHIP

By Associated Press
Madison—A town caucus has no power to declare a vacancy in the office of town chairman, and an election to fill a vacancy attempted to be so declared would be null and void. F. E. Bump, assistant attorney general held in an opinion to Robert E. Kennedy, district attorney of Douglas co.

WORTH MILLIONS SCHOOL PUPILS' VEHICLE NEED NOT BE COVERED

Only 14 but a multimillionaire! Florence Argall Yates, who recently came into a fortune of $13,000,000, probably is one of America's wealthiest children. The money was left by her father, Porter B. Yates of Milwaukee, head of the Yates Machine Works of Beloit and Ontario.

A covered wagon for farmers to haul their children to rural schools is not necessary in order for them to collect the state compensation allowed by law. Assistant Attorney General Mortimer Levitan, in an opinion to District Attorney S. A. Barnett of Spooner, Washburn co., held that in a case cited by him in district No. 2, town of Spooner, that compensation could not be refused on grounds that the farmer's wagon had no top. The law provides that the transportation must be "safe, comfortable and convenient," and says nothing about a top. The opinion, however, said that the school district was justified in refusing to pay a farmer for carrying his children when the automobile used was driven by a boy less than 18 years of age. This is in violation of the general state automobile law.

DELINQUENTS MAY PAY TAX FEES ANY TIME

A misunderstanding exists in the matter of the delinquent tax sale which will begin on June 12. Property owners who have thus far neglected to pay their taxes to the county treasurer seem to be under the impression that no taxes will be accepted until that date. Miss Marie Ziegenhagen, county treasurer, has announced that taxes can be paid at any time before that date. A small fee to cover the expense of advertising the property and the regular penalty of 1 per cent interest for each month the taxes have been delinquent will be charged.

CARNIVAL 'CZAR' FINALLY MAKING SHOWS CLEAN UP

Cheating And Immorality Will Be Barred Under National Campaign

By Associated Press
New York—Your morals and your pocketbook are to be protected when you visit the circus, the carnival and the showman, "czar," is the newest dictator of amusements, taking a place alongside Judge Landis of baseball, Will Hays of the movies, and Augustus Thomas of the theaters. "No more roll downs, blow-offs and squeezes," says Johnson. "That means a clean-up of indecent shows and gambling concessions." Cryptic words like these spell danger to the unwary. The "czar" explained them:
"A roll-down is a concession game where the sucker is lured on with prizes and then balked by a mechanical trick. A squeeze is illustrated in the game of tossing hats in a bucket for prizes, where at the last moment the hat is put out of reach of the player when the operator secretly squeezes the bucket and makes the balls bounce out."
"Devices of this kind separate side-show patrons from thousands of dollars. These together with keno and three-card monte and the shell game are often hidden under the first three days of a carnival's stay. The blow-off usually comes Thursday, when the sky's the limit for a quick clean up, sometimes with the connivance of town officials."
Johnson said most of the graft, gambling and immorality was practiced by hangers-on with outdoor shows visiting the carnival towns.
"We are also barring," he said, "all indecent shows, including 'koochee' dances, Hawaiian Villages, men-only shows, the '49 Camp, which is patterned after the old time revels of mining camp barrooms, and the fair-in-the-well show, which is one of the worst types of illusions with a sex appeal."
Cryptic words are to be barred, he said, for sanitary reasons. Also peddlers of moonshine liquor, narcotic drugs, and immoral pictures and literature.
The Showmen's Legislative Committee, of which Johnson is the new commissioner, will enforce 38 circus and 157 carnival companies. These, he said, represent half a billion dollars invested capital, employ upwards of 100,000 people and do a gross business of close to $4,000,000 weekly.
"Here's the big stick," he said. "We will outlaw any show or concession refusing to abide by the new rules. Advance notices will go to mayors, police chiefs, prosecuting attorneys and judges in town and villages on show and carnival routes, telling plainly what is permitted and what is prohibited. We will have investigating agents, and we will hit at crooked machines and games and at improper use of merchandise as prizes by getting the cooperation of manufacturers."
"We're going to clean up the outdoor show business from the inside. Swindlers, gamblers, sharpers, peddlers, and panders will be ostracized."
Johnson is a Chicago lawyer who has been connected with legal phases of the show business for 20 years. He was appointed dictator at a meeting of showmen in New York.

Carbon Deposits—How to Remove and Prevent Them

Unless you have had the Carbon removed from your engine recently, this is the next job to do to get your car in condition for the touring season. Carbon deposit is formed on top of the pistons, valves, and on the cylinder head and makes it overheat and when you advance the spark lever to climb a grade, it makes the engine knock badly.

To remove the carbon, first drain the radiator then remove the top water connection. Next remove all spark plugs and tie the cables back out of the way. Now remove the cylinder head bolts then lift off the cylinder head. This will expose the piston heads and valves.

Before you start to remove the carbon, plug up each of the bolt holes and water passages, and cover over any valve that is open, also the Coil, Distributor and Carburetor to prevent the carbon dust and chips from getting on them.

Turn the engine over to bring two pistons to the top of the cylinder, then with a putty knife or scraper, remove the carbon from each piston top and valve head. Get every particle of carbon off, then finish by polishing with emery cloth. This will prevent the carbon from forming so quickly again. After you have finished with the pistons scrape the carbon from the cylinder head. When you have everything clean and polished, carefully remove all dust and grit, then wipe the cylinder walls with a clean, oily rag.

When you have the cylinder head off, the Valves should be examined and if necessary ground in, but space will not permit me to describe this operation this week. Next week's article will show you how to perform this operation.

Carbon deposit is caused by carrying the oil level too high, leaking piston rings or scored cylinder walls allowing an excessive amount of oil to leak into the cylinder head, causing an oily, gummy deposit of carbon to form when the oil is burnt. If the Carburetor is too rich, the deposit will be dry and black like soot.

Always keep the oil at the correct level in the crankcase, never over-oil. Too much oil will soon cause the Muffler to get clogged up as well as cause carbon deposit in the cylinders. When the Muffler gets clogged, the exhaust gases cannot get away freely and a back pressure is set up in the cylinders. This prevents a full charge of fresh mixture being taken into the cylinders, and of course, results in a serious loss of power besides taking all the life and pep out of the engine.

Remove the Muffler. If you can take it apart and can scrape all the carbon out, all right. If, however, the nuts are rusted on, then rap all around with a piece of wood to loosen as much carbon as possible. Now make up a strong solution of common washing soda and boiling water, and let the Muffler soak as long as possible in this mixture. Poke a piece of rag fastened to a wire through both ends of the muffler. Before replacing flush thoroughly with clear water.

If your engine forms a carbon deposit that has to be removed often more than 2,000 miles, find out the reason why the carbon forms so quickly and have the fault remedied. It is a disease that can be cured if you apply the proper remedy.

If you have been in the habit of pouring into your engine any kind of oil the garage man has in stock, and have been careless about the oil level in the crankcase, you know at least one reason why you have an excessive amount of carbon. Use the grade of oil recommended by the makers of your car, or on one of the charts issued by the large oil companies, and use a little care to see that the oil is kept at the correct level.

If the carbon is dry and black like soot, it is a certain indication that the Carburetor is adjusted too rich, cut it down to run with a leaner mixture.

If the cylinder walls are scored or out of round (a condition that can only be checked by a competent mechanic) the cylinders will have to be reground or lapped, and new rings fitted before you can cure the carbon forming habit in your engine.

Providing the piston rings are in good condition and the cylinders are not scored, carbon deposit can be prevented to a very large extent by the following precaution: Fill a bottle with a mixture of half kerosene and alcohol, then about three times a week, just after you come in from a run and while the engine is warm, squirt about a tablespoonful of the mixture into each cylinder. The kerosene and alcohol will soften the carbon and when you start up in the morning, most of the carbon will be blown out.

BELIEVES HAZING IN MODERATION IS GOOD FOR FROSH

College "Mother" Differs With Views Of Man Whose Son Killed Self

By Associated Press
Middlebury, Vt.—Is hazing good for boys?
"Yes—in reasonable amounts," says Mrs. Maud O. Mason, for many years matron of one of the men's dormitories at Middlebury College, and herself mother of two boys.
"Not at all," says the Rev. C. N. Tanner, English rector, whose 14-year-old boy committed suicide because of the "ragging" of upper classmen in a British school.
Between these divergent views lies a field of controversy as wide as the ocean itself. But one thing is agreed—the American "freshman," no matter how severe his hazing, gets off much easier than the British boy whose "bullying" starts in the public schools.
These public schools are really private institutions.
Vivian Merton Tanner, son of the rector, was sent to Christ's Hospital, better known as the "Bluecoat School." He was good looking, sensitive and very studious, being more interested in books than games. And that is a cardinal sin in a British public school.
The older boys "picked" on him incessantly. The crisis came one afternoon when he was ordered to act as linesman in a football match. He was pestered by his fellows: they charged him with making mistakes, and it is said, several kicked him. Driven to desperation, he went to his locker, drew out a clasp knife turned to his tormentors and said:
"You made me do it. You have killed me."
He then stabbed himself.
As a result of this tragedy many persons are bitterly attacking the whole British school system insofar as the conduct of the boys is concerned. In some schools the younger boys are the "fags" or servants of the older students.
No such extremes are common in the American schools. But the life of the freshman is not one of too much comfort.
"This," says Mrs. Mason, who has mothered thousands of boys at the New England college, "is as it should be. If freshmen didn't get a little traditional attention from the sophomores, they would think they were being cheated out of part of their college course."
"Some of the proudest fellows I've ever seen were those freshmen who were singled out to be 'stolen' by the sophs the night before a game or interclass contest."
"Mother," Mason does not approve of "jacking ducks" or indiscriminate paddings. She does believe, however, that a certain amount of class discipline administered firmly, and with good humor, is invaluable in making a man out of the high school youths who come to college.
"The ordeals," she says, "which seemed most trying to them as freshmen are the ones over which the alumni chuckle most in later years."

REGENERATE TRIO OF PRISONERS IN GOVERNOR'S HOME

Ohio Executive Declares His Plan To Reform Is Successful One

By Associated Press
Columbus, O.—Governor A. Victor Donahey of Ohio had been talking earnestly for a half hour, telling the remarkable story of Jim, Bill and Ed.
Finally he leaned heavily on his desk, involuntarily extended an arm, and in a voice that trembled slightly with emotion, said:
"And let me tell you, that I would rather trust those three boys, and I do, than many men who come to me in this office, seeking this or that, speaking honeyed words, free men, who sit in that very chair in which you are seated."
The remarkable story of the redemption by the governor of Jim, Bill and Ed, who tried to pass a worthless check! Jim and Bill who killed—
All through the uphill struggle in life of the present governor of Ohio there took form a deep-rooted conviction that many men who "slipped" were not hopelessly lost to society—that perhaps in some way or other there was a chance for them.
He vowed that should the time come when he would be in a position to do his share to bring about the realization of his dream, that time would not find him shirking.
Soon after he was inaugurated, Donahey slipped down to the Ohio penitentiary.
"I want three servants for the executive mansion," he told the warden "Let me see some prisoners who have good records."
Donahey—the governor—talked long and confidentially to Jim and Bill and Ed—the convicts (those names will do as well as any). He knew he had found the three men to show the world the truth of his theories. He placed in them his complete trust—a man's greatest gift—and brought them away from the gray walls to live again with free men, as free men.
"These three would do for men," said Donahey. "I'll call them my boys. Technically they still are servants."

Two building permits issued Wednesday from the office of the city engineer brought the total of work authorized to date to $436,369. These are the permits:
Martin Lueders, 24 Bellaire-ct, 1-story, 6-room house.
John Renner, 505 Benoit st, concrete foundation to house.

On Way To Canada
A resident of Toronto, Canada, passed through Appleton Wednesday on his way to Winnipeg. He came up from Chicago on highway 15 and stopped here long enough to inquire the way to Waupun and purchase a road map.

Mrs. B. C. Walter has gone to Milwaukee for a several days' visit with friends.

ing terms, Jim and Bill for life, Ed for a number of years. But I intend that some day they will be pardoned. And when they go again into society they will be different men. "I mention this because in a small way—an experimental way, if you will—it is exactly what would happen if society itself would do the same with all men who come back who really deserve a second chance.
"I do not allow my three boys to delude themselves. They know they are going back some day into society. You have committed crimes, boys," I tell them. "There's no use denying that. # RABBI HIRSCHBERG TO BE SPEAKER AT JEWISH FESTIVAL

Appleton Congregations Will Conduct Feast Ceremonies Next Week

Zion temple will have a distinguished rabbi as speaker at the Jewish feast of the first fruits on Tuesday. He is Dr. Samuel Hirschberg of Temple Emmanuel, Milwaukee. Moses Monti-fiore congregation also will conduct special services.

The feast, which is also known as the feast of weeks, or the feast of the revocation will be observed in synagogues throughout the country on Monday. The special services in Zion temple, however, will take place at 10 o'clock Tuesday, as it was impossible for Dr. Hirschberg to come Monday. It is expected there will be a large attendance to hear the distinguished rabbi. Tuesday evening the confirmation services will be conducted by Dr. Hirschberg. Six children who have received religious instruction during the winter will be confirmed.

Special services at Moses Montefiore congregation will begin Sunday evening, and the festival will continue until Tuesday. The Rev. A. Zussman will be in charge.

The feast of the first fruits, like many other ancient festivals, has undergone considerable modification. In early Biblical days it was one of the three pilgrimages which the Jews made to the temple at Jerusalem.
There they offered up wheat leaves at the end of the first seven weeks of spring planting. The feast also commemorated the revelation of the law on Mt. Sinai.

In many American synagogues confirmation day ceremony has become a feature of the feast of weeks. It is on the one hand a graduation from the religious school. At the same time the confirmands renew their loyalty to Israel in its mission of service as a priestly people.

ON THE SCREEN

BARTHELMUSS HAS SEA
CLASSIC IN "FURY"

A classic of the sea.
That, briefly, is the efficient production
"Fury," the moving masterpiece on the screen tonight at the Elite for its final showing.

"Tolable David" has been deservedly called a classic of the Virginia hills, but even that drama has been eclipsed by the young star's latest effort.

"Fury" is a gem of the bounding main by Edmund Goulding and none of its tang is lost in the seven Barthelmuss is seen as "Boy" Leyton, second mate of the "Lady Spray," a picturesque four-masted schooner captained by his father, who is known among the men as "Doc" Leyton.

Barthelmuss is splendidly supported by Dorothy Gish, who makes a bewitching, Minnie; Eugene Power, as Captain Leyton; Paul Harrison, Barry Macollum, and Jessie Arnold. The photographic effects are a revelation, the sea "shots" far surpassing anything of the kind ever attempted before. Henry King directed. Which is just another reason why "Fury" is a classic.

ARTISTIC ATMOSPHERE
CAPTIVATES SCULPTURE

A great part of the action in "The Woman of Bronze," Clara Kimball Young's latest starring vehicle, at the Elite theater Friday and Saturday takes place in a sculptor's studio.
Signor Carlo Momanelli, sculptor who did considerable work in connection with this Harry Garson production for Metro, said that the atmosphere of these studio scenes were the most realistic and inspiring he had ever seen.

"You have captured the real spirit of a sculptor's studio," he remarked to Director King Vidor. "In such a place I could work forever."

"The Woman of Bronze" was adapted by Hope Loring and Louis Lighton from the novel by Henry Kistae-macher, translated by Paul Kester.

Irish And German Famines Led Settlers To Binghamton

ABOUT 75 years ago the country surrounding where Binghamton now stands was heavily covered with pine and hardwood forests. It was the home of many wild animals of which wolves were the most numerous, though bears, deer and small game were plentiful.

Early famines in Ireland and hard-times in Germany in 1846 and 1853 caused many to leave their native land, as in 1852, 428,000 immigrants arrived in New York. This was the largest number in any one year until that time. Many settled in New York and other eastern states but the majority came further west on account of cheap farm lands.

George Welsh settled near Albany,
N. Y., where he stayed several years, but as his brother John, who lived in the town of Ellington, advised him to come to Wisconsin, he, with his family, left Albany for Buffalo where they took passage by boat for Green Bay.

Upon their arrival at Appleton, having walked from Green Bay, they met T. P. Bingham, a surveyor, at this time owner of a tract of land covering the area hereabouts. He induced a few to settle here by giving them land and in this way would persuade others to buy where someone had a clearing.

George Welsh obtained 40 acres. Building material was plentiful and mud was used for plaster. After the house was built the greatest necessity was a place to raise potatoes and corn, which was prepared as soon as possible. An axe was the only implement used to clear land but later teams of oxen were used to help pile and burn the then valueless timber, but which would now be worth $75 or more a thousand feet.

SHOP AT GREEN BAY
People walked to Green Bay for provisions and carried them home on their backs. The source of their water supply was springs which fed Bull Dog creek, presence of which was one reason for their location of their homes. The only money they had was coupons or certificates which were redeemable at Green Bay trading post for supplies. The only road was the trail made by the Indians who took their furs to Green Bay to sell to French traders. The first state road was laid out by T. P. Bingham in 1858, now known as the lower road.

In 1859 Messrs. Hughes, Felo, John
Mr. Bear and C. W. Hopkins came.
Mr. Hopkins lived on what is now the W. E. Seehauer place and Mr. Bear on the William Defferding farm. Mr.
Bear was a sister of one of America's best loved poets, James Whitcomb Riley.

Many of the Indians who came here were of the Menominee tribe and came regularly from Keshena, in the early fall to hunt. When they left they would tell their white neighbors on what day they would return and in spite of rain, cold or bad weather, on that day they would come.

MANY WIGWAMS
Their wigwams were still standing from their last try, located in what is now the business section of Binghamton, and immediately upon their return, some would begin repairing their wigwams while the rest would hurry into the woods from which they soon returned with a choice portion of venison to trade with the whites for potatoes. True neighborliness was shown between these peoples of different races.

The Indian cemetery was on the sand hill on B. Griese's farm. When a white person died the only casket they had was a hollow log, such as Abe Lincoln and his father hewed out for his mother, but on the death of an Indian, they peeled a birch tree and made a beautiful coffin, large enough for his dog, gun and food for his journey to the happy hunting ground.

An old, old Indian said he remembered when Schultz's cranberry marsh was a lake of about 100 acres area and now it is only 10 acres.

An especially marked Indian named
Ted Jim, worked for George Welsh Sr., at logging, was very strong and would work all day for half a bushel of potatoes. He was usually easy to get along with but "fire water"
worked havoc with his good nature.

One time upon his return from town where he had obtained a supply of whisky he chased George Welsh, Jr.,
and a little Indian boy into the swamp.
The former escaped and the latter hid beside a log and hardly dared breathe, while Ted Jim threw his tomahawk at the trees. When the Welsh family went to Green Bay they left a loaf of bread or a few potatoes with the Indians, in payment for the care of their boy while they were gone.

Threats to report them to the chief would quiet any disorder among them.
As there are no swear words in the Indian language they learned them from the whites. Shortage of game caused the Indians to stop coming to this section.

SCHOOL BUILT
The first school was held in a log shanty on the lower road. Miss Addie Marston was one of the first teachers.
Wages averaged about $12 per month and board 50 cents a week. In the same year a new log house was erected on B. Griese's corner, with benches along the wall and tables or blocks used as desks. The earliest record is that of 1865 which tells of the first school meeting. In 1871 plans were made to erect a stone schoolhouse, but later the people decided to build one of timber, which is still in use. J. M.
Waite, who paid $17 for clearing an acre for the school site. The first flag was made by Mrs. Hopkins and contained 44 stars. A male teacher was hired for the four months winter term and a lady for the four months
summer term.

Mr. Thompson carried mail from Appleton once a week via the Indian trail. Mr. Hopkins was the first postmaster. Others who held that office before rural free delivery began were:
Messrs. Butler, E. Downey, Wickes-berg, Charles and J. Smith and August Roll.

EARLY INDUSTRIES
The first store and saloon was owned by Mr. Waite. The lumbering industry was begun here in about 1864. Robert Edison built the first sawmill on Bull Dog creek, and used drag saws.
The first lumber sawed was used in
Mr. Hopkins' barn and later in W.
E. Seehauer's barn now standing. Latter mills were built by Randall Johnson and C. Mauser. The latter had a grist mill attached. F. Wistoff and Charles Smith also built mills, the latter on George Smith farm.

A factory south of Binghamton bought ashes at 50 cents a load to be used in the manufacture of saleratus.
William Hartsworm was the first wagonmaker. Hugo Wickesberg owned the first cheese factory. Cheese sold for less than 8 cents per pound. Mr.
Lorman bought the factory and later
Mr. Griese.

In 1866 Ferdinand Wisthoff built the first blacksmith shop, where the cooperative cheese factory now stands.
The first town election was held in Charles Hopkins' house and only a few families were here when the town was called Black Creek. Mr.
Butler was town treasurer and Mr.
Welsh has a tax receipt of $1.76 on 40 acres in 1861; also a compass, given to his father, by Mr. Bingham.
Mrs. Welsh has a pair of shears which he gave to her mother.

Some of the early settlers were Mormons and built the church now used by the Lutherans. They baptized by immersion in midwinter in Bull Dog creek.

Make Old Age More Comfortable

OLD age is not a matter of years alone. Many folks are younger at 70 than others are at 60. We are as old as our kidneys. Too many old folks are worried with lame backs, aching kidneys, rheumatic pains and distressing urinary disorders. You feel older than you are. Why not feel younger? Doan's Kidney Pills have made life more comfortable for thousands of elderly folks. They should help you, too. Ask your neighbor.

An Appleton Case:

Mrs. C. Roesch, 929 Superior-st. says: "My back was lame and sore and pained a great deal across my kidneys. It was annoying in getting around to do my work. It made me feel out of sorts. At this time, I used about a half a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and the backache was removed."

New York—The New York Giants took the odd game from Pittsburg on Wednesday, 5 to 2. Jack Scott was in great form and let the Pirates down with four hits, which he kept well scattered. In only one inning, the fifth, did Pittsburg look dangerous, when they tied the score with two runs on a double by Grinn. Gooch's base on balls, Morrison's sacrifice, Marnville's sacrifice fly and Casey's single. Score: Pittsburg 0 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 2 New York 0 0 0 0 2 0 2 2 0 5

Batteries: Morrison, Kunz and Gooch; Scott and Snyder.

DODGERS TRIM CUBS

Brooklyn—Brooklyn made it three out of four with Chicago on Wednesday, winning by 2 to 2. The Dodgers bunched two doubles with a batter hit, a pass, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly off Dumovich in the first inning, driving the Cub pitcher out of the box. Two more singles off Osborne in the same inning netted the Dodgers four runs all told. Neis led the assault on two Chicago pitchers, with a homer, a double and a single, scoring three runs. Score: Chicago 0 0 0 2 0 0 0 0 0 2 Brooklyn 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 1 4 8

Batteries—Dumovich, Osborne and O'Farrell; Dickerman and Taylor.

HEAVIES BATTLE IN BOYLE FIELD

Richard Decides To Match Jess And Firpo In Jersey City

New York—Luis Angelo Firpo will sling his fast one at Jess Willard's palpitant middle in the ring at Boyle's Thirty Acres, Jersey City, on July 7. If he wins from Willard he will at once hire all the steam calliopes on the eastern seaboard and start the grandest lullaby in the history of the show business for a fight with Jack Dempsey, assuming, of course, that Dempsey beats Tom Gibbons in Shelby, Mont., on July 4.

Firpo and Willard made an agreement on Tuesday with Tex Rickard to fight under his auspices July 7. The Yankee stadium will be vacant on that date but Rickard sees no reason to share his profits with the ball club when he has the big wooden bowl in Jersey.

Firpo and Willard will take a percentage of the gross receipts. Willard at first demanded a guarantee. It was reported that he wanted $150,000.

Willard is leaving New York for a brief visit to Los Angeles. Firpo will push over Harry Foley next Tuesday night in Grand Rapids, Mich. Foley is a 200 pounder who has a pretentious record of defeats, having been whipped by the best and the worst of them, Charley Welner and Billy Miske are among his conquerors.

St. Louis—Frankie Conway, New York bantamweight, was awarded the decision over Johnny McCoy of Cleveland in a 10-round bout.

It took him some time to clear a passage into that part of the house which had escaped total destruction. A foot of mud and debris covered the floors. Furniture was piled on end. Great holes gaped in the walls where the plaster had given way.

Melody found a lamp upstairs. He called time after time for the child before he came down. Mercedes had cried out, too, but they got no answer. With the aid of the light, they went over the wreckage carefully, but not a trace of the child or of the two old servants was to be had.

Faith in his own prophecy began to grow in the red-haired one. "I knew somebody had got them out," he stated.

"Maybe they got lost when they tried to run," Mercedes murmured mournfully.

"No! The flood came too quick for that. If they hadn't been warned, they'd be right here. We'll find them at some of the neighbors to the west. If you say so, we'll go now."

"I best stay here, Senor. I'm tired so tired. You will go quicker by yourself."

"But I can't leave you here alone in this place. You'd be scared to death. It looks haunted."

She smiled at his tenderness. "There is nothing here to frighten me, my friend. Mercedes knows every rock and stone in this house. If spirits come here, they must be the spirits of those who loved me: my mother—or my father. My good father!"

"He was that, all right," Melody snapped out. "He was a hundred per cent."

The cow-boy gazed at the door. "I'll be blubberin' like a kid if I don't get out of here in a hurry," he murmured to himself. Aloud he said:

"I'll wait here till you get upstairs. I'll be light in three hours. Now don't get nervous. I won't come back without him."

A few minutes later she heard him riding away.

CHAPTER XXXI

THE NOTE ON THE DOOR

Melody had instilled in Mercedes some degree of confidence in his ability to find Basilio. He had told her, not that she was alone; that and her faith in Kildare. She could count on him. He had even defied Acklin for her.

She tried to mutter a prayer, but mind and body were so exhausted that the effort was incoherent. With the little strength that remained in her, she managed to get to the bed that stood in the center of the room. Undressing was beyond her. She tried to unlace her boots, but her eyes closed.

Mercedes did not know how long she had been asleep when she was awakened by the sound of some one creeping stealthily up the stairs.

It was Shorty. He had called several times and, getting no answer, had begun searching the house, bent on picking up whatever trifles he could find and, at the same time, intending to make certain that he had not left himself open to Bodine's displeasure.

When Mercedes threw open her door and faced him, he was the more frightened of the two. But Shorty was truly an evil-looking figure as she saw him standing in the light that streamed on him.

"What you want here?" she demanded.

"You the Senorita?" Shorty questioned in turn.

"I am. What is your business?"

"I got a letter for you." He brought it forth from a coat-pocket. "I been callin' for ten minutes. I didn't think they was any one home."

Mercedes read the note hastily. Her heart beat faster as she recognized Basilio's strange letters. It was alive then!

"You are one of Bodine's men, huh?" she asked.

"Yes, ma'am. We bin together a long time."

"You have seen my brother then? He is not hurt?"

"No! He's all right, unless he's cried himself to death."

"Oh, I wish you had brought him here," Mercedes gasped.

"Well, lady, Buck was afraid they wouldn't be anythin' left of this place. I bin hours gettin' here. I got a risk to take you in. We'll have to go round by the Winnemucca road to make it."

The girl weighed what she was doing, for all of her excitement, as she followed Shorty downstairs to his team. She had good reason to fear Bodine, but she had to go to Basilio. At least, it would be dawn when she arrived there.

In answer to a sudden impulse she snatched a pin from her dress, and as she stepped upon the veranda she fastened Bodine's note to the door without attracting Shorty's attention. Melody would be sure to find it there.

Use Of Dates
Will Cut Down
On Sugar Need

Due to the present high price of sugar housewives particularly in the West, are finding means to reduce the amount of sugar used in their kitchens. Many of them have resorted to cut down their consumption of sugar by at least one-third until present prices have been materially reduced. One method by which this can be done is to employ dates, prunes and other fruits more freely.

The date is especially valuable for this purpose, for it is rich in sugar of the "invert" variety which is more healthful than cane sugar, since it can immediately be assimilated by the body without any chemical change. It is calculated that two dates equal in sweetening power a teaspoon of sugar. If dates are added to oatmeal or other cereals, the amount of sugar required with them will be reduced, or the sugar can even be entirely eliminated. In baking and making desserts dates can also be substituted for sugar. Following are some date recipes which do not require the use of sugar:

Date Souffle

- 1 package dates
- 1 cup water
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 egg whites

Remove pits from dates. Cover with cold water and allow to stand at least five hours. Cook slowly in same water until tender and rub through coarse strainer. Add salt and lemon juice and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into buttered baking dish. Set in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes, or until firm. Serve hot or cold.

Health Muffins

- 1 cup flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 1/2 cups bran
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- 1 tablespoon melted butter or other fat

This recipe makes twelve muffins. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add bran and dates and mix thoroughly. Add well beaten egg, milk and butter. Beat until thoroughly mixed and pour into greased muffin pans. Bake in moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Date Gems

- 1 cup flour
- 5 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1 cup graham flour
- 1 cup chopped dates
- 1 1/2 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or other fat

This recipe makes twelve gems. Sift flour, baking powder and salt together. Add graham flour and dates and mix thoroughly. Add milk and butter, stirring constantly. Pour into greased muffin pans and bake in moderate oven 25 to 30 minutes.

Gypsy Brown Buns

- 1 cup fresh keepling, cocoanut
- 1/4 cup figs
- 1 package dates
- Spread cocoanut on a pan and put in moderate oven. Stir frequently until a delicate brown. Put dates and figs through food chopper. Add half the cocoanut and knead. Shape into rolls about one inch long and roll in the remainder of the cocoanut.

Date Tapioca Pudding

- 3 tablespoons tapioca
- 1 1/2 pints milk
- 1 egg whites
- 3 egg yolks
- 1 tablespoon cornstarch
- 3/4 cup dates
- Soak tapioca in a little water until soft. Boil the milk and add tapioca. Put in well beaten egg yolks and cornstarch mixed with a little milk. Add dates. Let the mixture just come to a boil and then pour into a dish to cool. Beat the egg whites to a stiff froth and put on top of pudding.

Date Corn Bread

- 1 cup cornmeal
- 1 cup flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1/2 cup chopped dates
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 cup milk
- 2 eggs
- 1/4 cup shortening
- Sift and mix cornmeal, flour, baking powder, and salt. Add milk slowly, well beaten eggs and shortening. Finally add dates and bake in a greased shallow pan in a quick oven.

FASHION HINTS

RIBBON EMBROIDERY

A great deal of the narrow ribbon embroidery is being used on summer hats this year. Narrow, two-toned ribbons are used, some of them being applied to the straw in startling geometrical designs.

CORDUROY NEGLIGES

Brocaded corduroy is being effectively made up into warm negligees. The majority are made on simple bodice wrap lines with kimono sleeves a little more tailored than a season ago.

APRICOT TAFFETA

A hat of apricot taffeta has an all-over applique of black velvet cut out in a cherry and vine design.

TAPESTRY BAGS

Tapestry is the only cloth in vogue for bags in Paris today. The bags generally match the costume in tone or background, however.

SHORTER SKIRTS

The shorter skirt length, it is said, will characterize all of the models for fall.

NEGLECTED HAIR CANNOT BE BEAUTIFUL

BY MME. HELENE RUBINSTEIN

The condition of the hair is largely a matter of physical health, but nowhere is neglect more evident. Neglected hair is never beautiful, while sometimes scanty heads of hair pass for beautiful and luxuriant ones just because the possessors give them care.

Beautiful hair is clean hair. There is considerable diversity of opinion among hair specialists regarding the frequency with which the shampoo should occur.

Some maintain that every two or three weeks is none too often, while others declare that once in two or three months is frequent enough.

Naturally the hair should be washed often enough to keep it clean, but brushing it thoroughly each night and using a tonic which is rubbed carefully into the scalp often keep it clean without occasioning a shampoo oftener than every month or six weeks.

If you have a tendency to baldness or a decided loss of hair, shampooing should occur only when cleanliness absolutely requires it, for you are depriving it of the natural oil when you wash it.

An excellent shampoo is made by beating an egg into an ounce of water and rubbing it thoroughly into the scalp. The yolk contains iron and sulphur, both excellent for the hair. The white is very cleansing.

If you prefer to use soap, nothing is better than to melt a cake of white castile soap in a quart of boiling water. Wet the hair first with warm water, then with a couple of table spoons of the soap jelly and rub thoroughly into the scalp. Gather the long ends up on the crown so that they, too, may be well lathered.

Before rinsing, massage the scalp with firm, rotary movements. Rinse the hair through several waters, the last of which should be cold. Be sure that every particle of soap has been removed.

Brushes and combs should be selected with care and cleansed frequently. For exaggerated cases of dandruff or hair ailments it is best to consult a specialist who will prescribe a remedy for your particular case. Sun baths are excellent. It is also advisable to let long hair hang

OF THE TWINS

The Army Balloon

General Nick looked in every direction through his spy glasses for the enemy. But no enemy was in sight in Bing Bang Land.

"We'll have to send up a blimp and look for the tin soldiers," he said to Colonel Stiff Leg, an officer in the wooden army.

"What's a blimp, sir?" asked the Colonel respectfully.

"Don't you know?" asked General Nick in surprise. "It's a balloon that stands still in the air. Whoever is in it can see over the whole country, find out what the enemy is doing and drop down notes to tell us."

"A very good idea," nodded Colonel Stiff Leg approvingly. "But I believe we have no balloons."

"Then I'll send a messenger back to the Tinker Man," said Nick. "He has all sorts of things. Who is willing to go?" he asked the army.

"I'll go," said a private, stepping out of the ranks. "Maybe I'll win a medal for bravery."

"Good," said Nick. "Perhaps you will." So he wrote a note quickly and handed it to the brave wooden soldier, who stuck it in his breast pocket.

"If you get hurt I'll come and get you in my ambulance," called Nancy.

Away went the soldier while the army stood and waited.

After while he came back all out of breath, with a bundle under his arm. "Here it is, sir," he said saluting.

"I had to pass a regiment of tin machine gunners, two regiments of cavalry and three of artillery. But although they shot at me with everything they had, they didn't hit me."

"Bravo!" cried Nick. "I'll pin three medals on you for that!" Which he did.

Nick blew up the balloon and tied it to a tree so it couldn't float away. It was gray and shaped like a sausage, as war balloons are.

"Now, who will go up and see what the enemy is doing?" asked Nick.

Private Ram Rod stepped out and saluted. "I will, sir."

He jumped in and Nick let out the string until the balloon was high over the tree tops.

Modern Young Women Seek Modern Man

BY MARIAN HALE

New York—We have with us the Modern Young Woman, but—

Where is the Modern Young Man that is going to step out with her?

"It's no use looking for him, he just simply isn't," wail Columbia University co-eds. "Women are going ahead and doing all sorts of interesting things, but men—they're doing the same old things they've been doing for generations. There simply isn't any modern young man!"

Says Miss Catherine Wald, Pitts burg, Pa. girl and student at the Puttner School of Journalism: "You hear of women going out and becoming taxi drivers and ship builders and deep sea divers, but do you ever hear of a man carving out a brand new career for himself?"

SHE LIKES VARIETY

"When a woman goes to college it's an almost even chance she'll elect to become an architect or a chemist or a landscape gardener. But do you ever hear of a man electing to take domestic science?"

"Are the men organizing any sugar boycotts or any new political parties?" Miss Wald feels that the answer to all these self-imposed questions is a firm, vigorous, "No."

"It's the same way in other things," she continues. "A man simply won't vary the cut of his clothes. He ties his tie in the same old way. If he parts his hair in the middle he thinks he's gone the limit of self-expression."

HE CAN'T CHANGE

"He can't even invent any new forms of wickedness. His religion, his morals, his politics are all hand me downs."

He still thinks the surest way to win a woman is to flatter her. He still thinks the greatest compliment he can pay a woman is to ask her to marry him.

"He still thinks that all a woman wants is a gas log consumer and a fussy companion."

"Why, oh why, can't we have a modern young man?"

Old Parasol Can Be Made Stylish

Last summer's parasols are going to look old-fashioned this year. The new parasol is unique, piquant, different, with its ribbon embroidery, ribbon ruffles, ribbon flowers and ribbon fringes. However, our way have a parasol that is in perfect condition save for its lack of style. In this case, it would be foolish to discard it, when ribbons can be applied on it so easily. A few yards of narrow picot ribbon will work wonders. Outline a simple design and embroider or applique it with ribbon. Use a stitch that will be attractive on the underside of the parasol, such as a brier stitch. The same ribbons may be used as fringe, sewed closely around the edge of the parasol, and behold! a parasol that you need not be ashamed of in a fashion parade.

LETTER FROM ALICE HAMILTON TO HER FRIEND, BETTY STOKLEY

The plot thickens, dear Betty, and I feel quite a conspirator. Yesterday I received a picture postal from Leslie, who is at Niagara Falls on her wedding trip, saying that Jack, her husband, insisted upon her wearing the 'pearl beads' I gave her all the time.

I wonder what he would think if he knew that those "pearl beads" were real and probably worth a hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars. What would he think if he knew that some man had given ten years of his life to matching them? And that it had been a labor of love? What would he think about Leslie if he suddenly realized that Karl Whitney's heart was breaking because of her marriage with an other man?

Oh Betty, isn't life wonderful? I never thought that, when I read such stories as "The Jewels," I would be one of the actors in a story of that kind. You remember, Betty, how we sneaked that book up to my room and read it under lock and key because we knew that if mother knew we were reading it she would take it away from us.

And now, Betty dear, we know it is real life—just as did our author. Of course in "The Jewels" the woman was aware that a man not her husband was giving her real gems.

Although I did not think so at the time, now that I have grown older and more experienced, I think that the author intended us to be aware that there was an "affaire de coeur" between the wife of the government clerk and her husband's friend.

My sister, Leslie, is perfectly innocent in this matter, but I sometimes wonder if I did right in allowing Karl Whitney to make her this wonderful present. But oh Betty dear I did feel so sorry for him I knew his love for my sister will be the one love of his life. He is what you might call a "one woman man."

He was over here last night and he did speak so beautifully of love and what it meant. I felt all the while while he was talking that it was a shame some good woman might not become his wife. I know he will never marry.

Betty dear, I am afraid that unless I find a man as splendid as Karl, a man who has the capacity for loving which he has, I shall go to my grave forever unwed.

Have you seen any men over there in France that strike you as splendid as Karl? I do not think that you realized how wonderful he is until I told you of this tragic episode in his life.

Truly I have learned from this that we grow not from our joys but from our griefs.

I know you are intensely interested in this love story right out of real life and I shall keep you informed from day to day. But honestly Betty, I do not think that Leslie's present husband can make her perfectly happy.

Lovingly yours

ALICE

Cover the fillets of fish with the oil, vinegar, salt, pepper and onion juice. Set aside for a time. Then drain, spread each fillet with mashed potato, roll up and fasten with toothpicks. Roll in seasoned flour, dip in the egg, roll in crumbs and fry in deep fat three minutes. Drain and serve with the following sauce:

Two tablespoons butter, two tablespoons flour, one-half cup fish stock made from bones and trimming, one-half cup cream, two tablespoons vinegar, one teaspoon chopped onion, one tablespoon chopped sweet pickle, one tablespoon chopped parsley, one tablespoon capers, one teaspoon tarragon vinegar, salt and pepper to taste.

Melt the butter, add flour and when smooth add fish stock and cream. Cook until it thickens. Seal the vinegar with the onion, add the pickle, capers, parsley, tarragon vinegar and seasoning.

DEFER BOND ISSUE RESOLUTION UNTIL DATE IS DECIDED

Council Will Act At Next Meeting On Sale Of Added School Notes

Because the city council could not agree Wednesday evening upon the date of the issue of $250,000 additional high school bonds, the matter was deferred until the next meeting on June 6. The initial resolution introduced Wednesday evening was withdrawn by Theodore Berg, city attorney, for possible alteration of the features under discussion.

The bonds, according to the resolution, were to be dated Feb. 1, 1924, bear interest at 4% per cent payable semi-annually, be in denominations of $1,000 each and mature as follows: Bonds No. 1 to 10 on Feb. 1, 1941; bonds No. 11 to 130 in 1942; bonds 131 to 190 in 1943; bonds 191 to 250 in 1944.

Mayor Henry Reuter expressed the opinion that the bonds should be dated earlier so that they might be sold and the money be available for the contractors. On the other hand, it was pointed out by Aldermen that the dating and sale of the bonds this year would cause the bonds to mature that much earlier and that the burden of the payment would thereby be doubled.

Maturity of bonds was fixed at 1941, 1942, 1943 and 1944 so as to follow the payment of the final principal on the $425,000 bond issue and thereby make it easier for the taxpayers to pay off all bonds. If the bonds are dated earlier, the entire $250,000 will have to be paid off in three years instead of four years as indicated above.

A solution of the problem will be sought and presented to the council at the next meeting when the resolution will be presented for publication.

Purchase of the property for the site of the east end junior high school near Erb park was made possible Wednesday evening by a decision of the council to loan the free high school district $20,000 for the purchase price. It was stipulated that the money be later deducted from the proceeds of the bond issue. The properties are located in blocks 7 and 12 of Herman Erb addition and are owned by Herman Erb Land company and August Brandt.

PLAN PICNIC FOR CHURCH JUNE 14

Preliminary plans for a family festival of the members of the First Congregational church and parish at Pierce park June 14 were made by the general committee at a meeting Wednesday afternoon. The above place and date were decided and subcommittees appointed to work out the details. It is probable that there will be picnic luncheon at noon, and a series of events in the afternoon, with supper following.

The aim will be to obtain a large attendance of adults, especially men, as well as the children. The district captains of the church will work out a plan of competition to this end. The Rev. C. W. Cross, associate pastor, is general chairman of the event.

SEES HUGE FOX FARM WHILE AT MERRILL

Capt. Fred Heinemann has returned from an extended visit with relatives at Merrill. While there he visited the fox farm of Fromm Bros. who have more than 500 silver foxes and who have made a fortune in the business. They started breeding with a single pair of foxes not more than ten years ago.

The foxes have 40 acres of virgin timber in which to roam. The tract is enclosed with a wire net fence that extends four feet higher the surface of the ground which prevents them from burrowing under it. The Fromm Bros. have also a clematis farm which yields enormous returns annually.

EVERYONE A WORLD BEATER

Each of these six aces from McCook Field holds at least one world flying record. They have hung crepe on all French air exploits. Citizens of Dayton, O., gave them a dinner just before two of the six—Lieuts. Oakley G. Kelly and John A. Macready—hopped off on their successful 27-hour transcontinental non-stop flight. Former Governor James M. Cox, as toastmaster, presented cups to the aviators in behalf of the city. From left to right are Lieuts. Lester J. Martland, Alce Pearson, Jr., Harold R. Harris, Cox and Lieuts. Kelly, Macready and Russell L. Maughan.

WORLD COURT IDEA STILL IS LIVING

Harding Has Not Changed Mind About International Tribunal

Without making a specific contrast with the policy pursued by Woodrow Wilson and previous administrations, the president feels he has sought the advice and consent of the senate in advance of any commitments abroad and yet has found out from foreign powers exactly how America might be admitted to the world court and be free from obligations in the league of nations itself. If the senate should reject the proposal, therefore, Europe and the rest of the world will not have counted unduly on American support. Similarly the senate is free to tack on such reservations as it feels will safeguard the United States from being involved in foreign political tangles. To attempt to discuss reservations any further than was outlined in Secretary Hughes' original letter transmitted to congress last March would be futile in Mr. Harding's opinion, or to engage in a controversy with the critics of the world court would only serve to intensify such feeling inside the Republican party as has already developed and would not conduce to an atmosphere of reconciliation when the hour of compromise over the wording of reservations actually arrives.

NO NEW CONTROVERSY

Despite what the president says there are, of course, "irreconcilables" who think they can beat the proposition and who are confident Mr. Harding will not permit his own political fortunes by forcing a rift in the party almost on the eve of a renomination campaign. The president, however, has taken the initiative in calming the ruffled waters. So far as he is concerned there will be little more thrown into the pond of controversy between now and next December. His trip across the continent will not be as was thought at first, an "appeal to the people" on the world court but a simple recital of administration achievement in the last two years and purposes in the next two years with emphasis on domestic issues that are bound to be uppermost in the public mind in the next legislative session. Whoever wishes to construe this as a backdown on Mr. Harding's part can do so for the present but when the proposal is up for consideration in the next congress, the president will be found backing it to the fullest extent in an effort to gather the necessary two-thirds and it is already apparent that with solid democratic support he can win over his insurgents in his own party.

BEET WEEDERS FILL SEVEN COACH TRAIN

A special train of seven coaches and seven baggage cars from Lincoln, Neb., filled with beet growers and their families, passed through Appleton Wednesday afternoon on its way to Green Bay and Menominee, Mich. It stopped at Neenah and Appleton long enough to permit several families to detrain. They were taken at once to the beet fields of Winnebago and Outagamie counties where they will be employed during the summer.

CHAMBER INVITES EXPLORER HERE

I. H. Steffanson Will Deliver Address Here During Coming Season

I. H. Steffanson, the well known explorer of the North, will be brought to Appleton during the winter by the Appleton Chamber of Commerce according to the decision made at the board of directors meeting in the chamber offices on Wednesday evening. A booking agent for the explorer appeared before the board and made arrangements for the lecture. The board also decided to establish a prize of $10 for the best essay on papermaking to be written by students in the grade schools or in Appleton high school. A resolution was passed to ask the State Bar association to have its next convention in Appleton. Reports of the various committees which have had their organization meetings were given.

1923 CLASS WON'T PRESENT MEMORIAL

Decides Traditional Custom Does Not Accomplish Real Purpose

The senior class of Lawrence college will break away from one of the oldest traditions of the school by leaving no memorial gift to the college when it says farewell in June. In the opinion of the committee which reported to the class Wednesday afternoon, the memorials left by preceding classes have really been no memorials at all since no one but the members of the class knew what they were. One class gave the drinking fountain in Main hall, another the drinking fountain in the library, but since there were no marks on them, they have ceased to act as memorials.

CELEBRATION GROUP HOLD GENERAL MEETING

Chairmen of all the committees which have been appointed for the Fourth of July celebration in charge at the Oney Johnston post of the American legion met at 4 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in the chamber of commerce offices. The personnel of the committees will be completed within a short time and then definite arrangements of the plans will be made.

Mrs. Nellie Schmidt, Morrison st., has returned from Oshkosh where she spent several days with friends.

3,000 MEN MARCH IN PARADE SUNDAY

Milwaukee Archdiocesan Holy Name union? Benediction from a temporary altar erected in front of St. Mary church will follow the address and will end the convention.

The Holy Name society has 90 branches in the Green Bay diocese with approximately 27,000 members. The movement in America has a membership of about 3,000,000 men, according to the latest reports.

Officers of the Green Bay Diocesan union are Phil Sheridan, Green Bay, president; Michael Becker, Brillion, vice president; Louis Nelson, Kaukauna, vice president; Francis Audt, Marinette, vice president; Carl Isselman, Manitowish, vice president; the Rev. F. X. Van Nistelrooy, Kimberly, spiritual director; E. A. Weber, Menasha, secretary; James Hunt, Stevens Point, treasurer.

The executive board consists of President Sheridan, John Kuypers, Deppe; Joseph Martin, Green Bay; A. E. Weber, Menasha; Thomas H. Ryan and Gustave Keller, Appleton; Thomas Quinn, Green Bay, and the Rev. Father Nistelrooy.

The parade, according to leaders in the society, is to call attention to organizations which are to inculcate a greater reverence for the Holy Name, to eliminate the use of blasphemous and indecent language, put a stop to cursing and swearing and to bring about more sincere observance of the Sabbath. Officers of the society believe its aims leave an appeal to men of all religions and of no religion and they expect the parade to call attention to the fact that a very substantial number of men have pledged themselves to purity in speech so far as the use of blasphemous or indecent language is concerned.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Wilson and family of Duluth autored to Appleton on Wednesday to spend a few days as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Racey. Both Mr. Wilson and Mr. Racey are graduates of Lawrence college and were roommates while in college here.

Mrs. W. B. Basing has gone to Green Lake, where she will be the guest of relatives for the remainder of the week.

SUFFERED WITH TETTER ON HEAD

And Face. Itched and Burned. Cuticura Heals.

"I suffered with tetter from early childhood. It broke out in great spots on my head and face. The itching and burning were so severe that I scratched and irritated the affected parts until they would bleed. In the summer time I could hardly bear it. My hair became very dry and broke off.

"I tried many remedies but they did not give any relief. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three months I was completely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Mary Hicks, 2218 E. 38th St., Cleveland, Ohio, July 20, 1922.

PARENTS SEE H. S. CLASSES AT WORK

Products Of Shops And Kitchens Are Admired By Visiting Throng

For two hours on Wednesday evening, parents and friends of the students of Appleton high school availed themselves of the special opportunity to see the classes in manual training and home economics at work. Each room in which classes were in session or where work was on display was filled with those who were interested in what the students have been doing. Most of the parents were agreeably surprised that the girls make such good looking dresses and that the boys are able to turn out tables, desks and cabinets of splendid design and workmanship.

There was no effort at the exhibit to make the displays formal. Regular class work was conducted in most of the classrooms because it is hoped that this will encourage the parents to come to school often during the regular class time. Parents are always welcome to visit the school, but it is only on occasions such as this "open house" that they come out.

Some of the food exhibits were especially interesting to those who are dieting on the calorie system. A display of 100 calorie portions of all the well known foods was shown. Another group of foods was classified according to its mineral content. In the dining room, the visitors were served with punch and nut cookies, made by the girls.

ACCIDENT ENDS IN FINE FOR AUTOIST

Charles Felzer Pays $25 For Driving While Under Influence Of Liquor

An automobile collision on John-st at the Northwestern railroad tracks resulted in the arrest of one of the drivers Wednesday evening. Henry Gillette, driving a yellow cab, was struck by the Buick automobile driven by Charles Felzer, 18 Sherman-pl. Fenders on both cars were damaged. When the men came to the police station to settle, Sergeant James Moore and Officer Albert Deligen observed that Felzer was intoxicated and immediately took the man into custody. A warrant charging driving while in the state of intoxication was secured, of which charge he was convicted in municipal court Thursday morning and fined $25 and costs.
